

School Aids In Promoting War Effort

In an effort to promote the war program Bailey students and teachers for 1943 aid by buying war bonds and stamps, organizing scrap drives and various defense classes, and assisting in registrations.

Bond and stamps sales for the year by elementary and high school grades total $7,247.95. Of this amount the F. F. A. chapter purchases $1,025.00.

DEFENSE CLASSES

Defense classes taught include three in First Aid conducted by Mrs. J. P. Underwood, Miss Jane Lackey, and Mrs. H.E. Rogers; two classes each in electric wiring and welding by Messrs. Steve Boykin and J.E. Finch; a health course stressing communicable diseases by Mrs. A.H. Farmer; and physical education classes sponsored by the Victory Corps Organization and supervised by Mr. C.H. Walker. (Continued at bottom of next column)

Resolutions

Last January the first when you made New Year resolutions, did you keep them for only one or two days? If so, then why not make a resolution to keep the resolutions you make for 1943.

Don't make a long list of do's and don'ts, because a person can't reform all at once. Just make two or three. Mark them down in great big print. Post them where you can see them the first thing every morning. Try hard, and you'll find yourself keeping them.

SCRAP DRIVE

Scrap collected by students totals 26,834 pounds and sells for $131.89.

Throughout the year all teachers volunteered their services for draft and rationing registrations.

Ninth English Class Studies Letter Writing

In order to write personal and business letters correctly and promptly, the ninth graders are at present making individual letter books.

To make the books be a help in the future the students have written letters of different kinds, invitations, thank you letters, invitation refusals, invitation acceptances, apologies, sympathy notes, and business letters.

In addition the books include famous sayings pertaining to letter writing and a few don'ts applying to letter etiquette.

Staff To Honor Seniors

Plans are now being made to dedicate a portion of the April issue of the Bugle to the seniors. This section will include individual pictures of each student and a brief character sketch.
