

PRINCIPAL STRESSES NEED FOR BETTER CONDUCT

Americanism Tested By Third Bond Drive

Third bond drive, starting September 9, offers the greatest opportunity yet for AMERICANS to help their country in its most urgent emergency and to accumulate savings for themselves.

During this month there must be raised $15,000,000,000, the largest amount of money from individuals ever requested.

COSTS INCREASING

Right now it is costing approximately $100,000,000 a day to equip the fighting men.

For a speeder victory, for a permanent peace, Americans are asked to back the drive to their limit.

English Teachers To Supervise Library

Teachers are asked to assume responsibility for the library in the absence of a paid librarian.

English teachers, in connection with class work, will give instructions in library science.

Already an order for magazines has been placed amounting to $31. Principal M. W. Weaver estimated that $140 can be used for the purchase of new books.

TYPICAL B. H. STUDENTS

Weavers In Town

Principal M. W. Weaver and family come to Bailey from Castalia, Nash County. He is a native of Sharpsburg. His two small daughters, too young to attend school, are proving that they aren't too young to be attractive and appealing.

Like many men confined indoors most of the day, Mr. Weaver has his outdoor hobbies. His main interests are sports and raising chickens.

Mr. Weaver, graduated from Atlantic Christian College and later attended the University. He was a teacher at Red Oak and principal at Engle Hart and Castalia before coming here.

Prompted by arising problems, Mr. M. W. Weaver, Principal, at a chapel period, advised students concerning their school behavior.

Attention called to better care of the building, boy and girl relationships, lunch room buying, punctuality, and general conduct created various opinions among the students.

PRIDE URGED

Stating that a doctor in Rocky Mount remarked, "The pupils at Bailey High School don't care much for their building", Mr. Weaver appealed particularly to the students to show pride in the building and their general conduct.

Signs have multiplied that the student body appreciated this advice to the point of heeding it.

LIONS TO SPONSOR BUGLE AGAIN

Voluntarily the Lion's Club offers again this year to assume any indebtedness that the Bugle may have at the close of the school year.

In return for this assistance the paper continues its policy, of donating a page for the Club's use.
