

HERE AND NOW

New floorings, replacing outworn spots in halls, is the most pronounced improvement made in the building during the summer.

Graduates of last year who have visited the school this month are Mary Rose Brown, E. C. Griffin; John Dew, Harland Perry, Joyce Vick, Juanita Brantley, Samuel Glover, Martin Liles, Talmadge Creech, Richard Stott, Eleanor Hedrick, and Carl H. Walker Jr.

Eighth Grade enrollment shows an unusual equal number of boys and girls; all other grades have a girl majority.

Attending high school this year are 168 students, 97 girls and 71 boys.

Our former principal MR. CARL H. WALKER has a position with the state department in Raleigh.

Home Ec. Teacher Heads Lunch Room

Supervised by Miss Jewel Langley, home economics teacher, the lunch room is again operating even though WPA assistance is no longer available.

Miss Langley plans the daily menu, buys the groceries, and keeps the accounts. Mesdames Kermit Lewis, M.C. Oneal, and Wade

Joyner, with the help of the third year home ec. girls, prepare and serve approximately 200 plate lunches daily.

Prices are the same as last year; plate lunches ten cents, soup five cents. In addition ice cream, milk, and cakes are sold when obtainable.

Bailey High Has Three New Teachers

Three new teachers join the faculty of Bailey High this year, Miss Jewel Langley, teaching home economic; Miss Wilma Johnson, English and history; and Mr. W. M. Weaver, science.

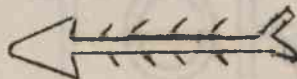

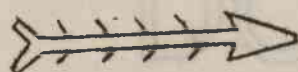

Miss Langley of Rocky Mount succeeds Mrs. H. E. Rogers, who has gone to Virginia to be with her husband. Miss Johnson of Conway, N. C., fills the vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Jane Lackey, now teaching at Erwin, N. C. Principal Weaver comes from Castalia and replaces Mr. C. H. Walker.

BUGLE EDITED BY ENGLISH, JOURNALISM CLASS

Seventeen students interested in journalism will edit the Bailey Bugle as part of the work required in a ninety-minute combined class of English and journalism.

The new class taught by Mrs. A. H. Farmer and composed of selected students, four sophmores, thirteen juniors, and one senior is applying English through the medium of journalism and, thereby, trying to improve the school paper.
