

Lewis Wins Award For Corn Project

Frank Lewis, a senior 4-H Club member of Bailey high, was awarded a silver medal at the November meeting by Mr. Wallace Majure assistant county agent, for the most outstanding 4-H corn project in Wash county this year.

Frank was all smiles when Mr. Majure told the members of his raising 20 barrels of corn on one and seven-tenths acres.

His Herford calf raised last year in his club work rated ninth place at the Rocky Mount stock yard. For this, he was awarded five dollars. He plans to continue his club work.

Trucks Often Late

A dillar, a dollar,
A ten o'clock scholar,
What makes you come so soon?

You use to come at ten,
But now you come at noon.

This old nursery rhyme is again in vogue.

The scarcity of truck necessitates the substituting of old trucks for the new ones that couldn't be obtained.

Quite often they break down, placing additional trips on those trucks that continue to run. The result is late arrivals of student. S.L.P.

Library To Add New Books

Matching the county's $70 fund enables the school to invest $140 in books for the library, half of which will be for the grammar grades; half, for the high school.

The $70 furnished by the school was made early in the fall from the tobacco sale.

Students Receive Citizenship Grades

To serve as a check upon citizenship progress and as a reminder of the awards, students in grades one through seven now receive grades on citizenship.

In the spring a citizenship medal and two $25 cash prizes will be awarded to students showing the most improvement.

Commenting on the progress made, Principal Weaver stated that Miss Juanita Rhodes's grade is giving satisfactory evidence of applied citizenship.

MATH CLASS DESIGNS LUNCHEON CLOTH

That geometry is not just a perpetual routine of propositions, theorems, and complex figures has been demonstrated by Mrs. H. A. Morse's tenth grade geometry class when the students made a luncheon cloth using as decorations geometric figures designed in the shape of flowers and stars.

Red, white, and blue carry out a patriotic color scheme on the forty-inch square. A prominent red star forms the center; red and blue flowers, the border; and white, the background.

The class donated the luncheon cloth to Mrs. Morse to be kept on display in her room.
