

Cries Arouse Interest

 You're killing me!
 Please don't make me go into that dark, camp, ghastly place. I can't stand it! All ears of some ninth girls, usually so kind and sympathetic, would not listen to the pleas of the frightened group.

In spite of the protests, the girls were made to do as they were told. At school the next day, the girls were made to drink milk from a bottle with a nipple on it. What a sight they were!

Part of the ninth and all the eighth grade girls would like now to get a chance to do unto others as they were done unto. P.R.B.

Girls Design Maps Of Treasure Island

Having finished "Treasure Island" in their literature books, the girls of sophomore English are now making a clay map of the island.

Each girl first drew a small map of her own on paper. The class then brought some white clay to school to mold a big map. Blue paper was put under a layer of glass for the water around the island.

Since typing I students have been writing two page business letters, tabulating reports, copying from rough draft, writing from manuscripts, and setting up business letters, they have gained much knowledge of what the work of an office demands.

NEXT BUDGET

The writing of legal documents such as deeds, mortgages, contracts, and specifications will be included in the next budget of work.

Shorthand students are able to take business letters at the rate of one hundred words a minute for one minute at a time. Later they transcribe them on the typewriter.

PRACTICE SET HELPFUL

The R. W. Collins Practice Set was completed March 3.

Melba Jean Stott, stated, "I have learned more by working this set than in all other previous assignments."

Josephine Griffin, Ruth Ruffin, and Maxine Finch remarked, "We have enjoyed working the set. It has further established facts and principles previously learned."
