

Principal's Column

M. W. Weaver

Schools are beginning their third war year of operation. This means of course, that there are many more shortages of supplies and equipment than in former years. Students and teachers will find it necessary to make the present supplies of some things last and to find ways and means of substituting for others.

QUOTA OBTAINED

Bailey School is quite fortunate in having been able to obtain a full quota of well trained teachers for this year.

There are seventeen teachers in the Bailey School and seven in the Mt. Pleasant School. Three new teachers were added to the Bailey faculty this year.

HANDICAPS CONQUERED

The school year has gotten off to an unusually good start.

The two major difficulties have been the illness of the janitor and the failure of the new school bus to arrive when expected. James's illness has necessitated the sweeping being done by students, and the lack of a bus has caused double loads.

IMPROVEMENT NEEDED

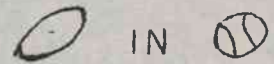

The major improvement needed in the student body is more consideration of behavior in the halls. Change classes quietly, without talking and without undue delays.

Let's make this a banner year for Bailey!
