Twenty-five educational films, bought by the county, are available for school use. Additional films will be rented for teaching purposes. Although most films will be shown in the auditorium, a new screen is to be bought by the school for use in each school room.

The record player will be used to develop appreciation of good music. These records will be heard in each room as soon as a victrola is obtained.

Since the arrival of 153 books during the summer, the school library has recorded in its accession books 2598 books.

The new books received are a part of a back order plus $100 order since school began.

Miss Johnson, librarian, not having a library period, asserts, "I have practically gone batty keeping study hall, accession records, and placing books on the shelves."

Students are urged to return books on time. The fine for over-due books is one cent for every day over-due.

The library is kept open every period of the day by student librarians. Betty Doris Sanders, Bobby Ray Meacomes, Janice Bunn, Junior Finch, and Keith Glover compose the staff of student librarians.
