HOME EC. GIBLETS

To LOU GLEN BRANTLEY, ninth home ec. student, all her friends are "suckers". Thanks be, to her this is a complimentary term.

MARIE THORNE, also home ec. student, declares that the two biggest subjects in high school are "date discussing" and "group giggling".

Referring to EDYTH HIGH, well kept hair compliments the face. She also has a good general appearance. Gifted as a good designer, she designed the paper dresses worn in the coronation ceremony.

BARBARA FARMER, ninth home ec. student, does "very excellent" hand work.

In dress making, Margie Peele, tenth home ec. student, is doing "fine" work on a red flannel dress.

DOROTHY JORDAN, also tenth home ec. student, is making a pretty green wool dress. It is to be trimmed in black. New wing sleeves with black bands around them give a chic look.

A lone woman on her way to school opened the tool chest and took off the flat tire. She then began putting on the spare. About this time someone drove up and offered to help. Gladly she accepted.

She arrived after school had begun with hands greasy and dirty. Everyone was surprised because Mrs. Wilson always looks so neat. Explanations brought sympathy and admiration.
