

W.C.T.C. Journalism Class Evaluates Bugle

Upon receiving the second issue of the BAILEY BUGLE I wish to congratulate you and your entire staff on the wonderful school paper you are publishing this year. I can assure you that the time and effort spent on this work will prove worthwhile to all concerned.

I look forward to the time when each issue arrives. Practically all the girls on third floor read each copy from cover to cover, even though they do not know anyone mentioned in it. Last month I received my copy of your paper right before a Senate meeting; so naturally I began reading it immediately, and in just a few minutes all the senators had practically taken it away from me. Everyone complimented it highly and said it was the best school paper of its type they had ever read.

It may also interest you to know that several members of our journalism class studied it from a critical viewpoint and consider it of the highest quality. Many of your types of articles correspond closely to those in our college newspaper; for example, I particularly noticed the one on campus fashions.

May success be yours throughout the school year in making the BAILEY BUGLE of 1946-47 the best yet.

Hartsell Serves Church

J. P. Hartsell, of High Point, North Carolina, is now serving as pastor of the Bailey and Middlesex Baptist Churches.

Reverend Hartsell is married and has three children. Though he now lives in High Point, he plans to move to Middlesex as soon as the parsonage is repaired.

Mr. Hartsell sells books as a source of extra income and has for sale many different and interesting books about the Bible.

Having read the past two issues of the Bugle, he has complimented them highly and expressed a desire to visit the journalism department.
