

Jrs. Attain Highest Activity Record During First Semester

Most of the classes in high school earned the right to boast of one outstanding activity during the first semester.

Miss Bugle, queen of the Bailey Bugle, was Marlyn Lancaster of the eleventh grade. This class also sold $515 worth of magazines for the Curtiss Publishing Company. Bobby Lee Finch, leading in the sales, received a gold Bulovalova wrist watch. Money received from the subscription campaign will go toward financing the Junior Senior Banquet.

The ninth girls with an enrollment of 25 averaged higher than any other grade in high school during the first six-weeks grading period.

Winning the PTA attendance reward consecutively for three times was the record set by the ninth boys.

The tenth grade led in the tobacco contest held at the first of the year.

The only event of note of the seniors, according to their sponsor, was their reaching an agreement on the invitations bought.

INCIDENTALLY

Hanging in the classrooms are calendars that have pictures of all the presidents.

These pictures reveal that all but nine of the presidents of the United States view the world through blue-colored windows, indicating, according to an old belief, that the owners have a bright, happy outlook upon life.

Both the first and last presidents have blue eyes.

Lions

Welcome to Johnnie Burgess, the newest member, of our club.

The club voted to rule out all titles when addressing a fellow member while the club is in session--except of course Dr. Peacock.

Fellow townsmen, get ready for another rat extermination day some time in March. One treatment will not cure the rat ills.

Fellow members, remember that your absence causes our attendance report to be low. Who is responsible?
