

Behind The Scenes

Elton Williams, interested in baseball, has as one of his future goals the idea of becoming connected with a large ball club. Elton has played on the high school team and has also played with Wilson High boys.

Evelyn Poole was maid of honor at her cousin's wedding on February 23, in Smithfield, Virginia.

Marie Lamm secures many prizes by selling candy. Marie sells candy at school and in her home community, and for each box the company sends her a gift.

Jimmy Jones, eighth-grade class president, is a great help to his teacher, Miss Millie Pearson. On mornings when his teacher is late for class because of late bus, he conducts the class for her until she arrives.

By hanging new pictures, new curtains, and remodeling dressing table and stove, Billie Freeman Vick has given her room that tip-top look. She also put down a new carpet and rearranged her furniture.

History Booklets Portray Civil War Period

Student booklets bring to life the Civil War period by the portrayal of men, maps, poetry, and patriotic songs of that day.

Included in the booklets are written biographies of Abraham Lincoln, Jefferson Davis, Robert E. Lee, and Ulysses S. Grant, outstanding men of that time; the Gettysburg Address; an outline on the Southern Confederacy, a map illustrating the Confederate border, and free states, colored in a variety of colors to show contrast; officials of the Confederacy; ways of financing the new government, and Southern prospects for victory.

Patriotic songs and poetry of the North and South were studied also.

Neatness, grammar, and exactness were the points used as a basis for grading.

This work served as an aid for the monthly test.
