

Freshmen Study Unit On Library In English

That the ninth grade might gain an understanding of the placement of the books on the library shelves and identify markings on the books was the aim of Miss Wilma Johnson, English teacher, for including a library unit in the course of study. The plan of study followed the pattern of the chapter in the English textbook.

DECIMAL SYSTEM

By studying the Dowey Decimal System, the class learned the ten major divisions of books and fifteen of the most commonly used subheads. A special study was made of the classification of fiction, short stories, and juvenile books.

To show the student how the books were arranged according to the order studied, the teacher conducted a class discussion in the library.

As only a brief study was made of the unit, no special outside work was required.

Principal Breaks Arm In Fall

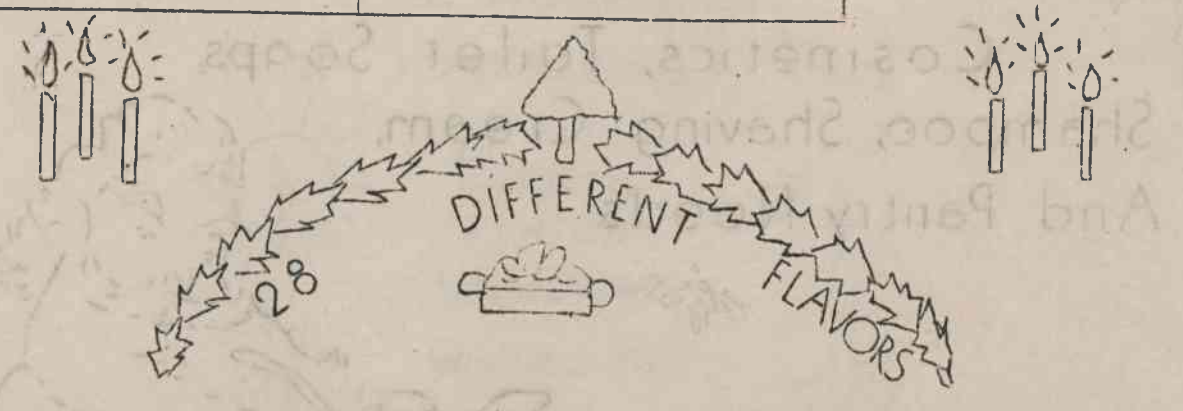

M. W. Weaver, principal, has a broken arm as the result of tripping over a board lying on the walk between the schoolbuilding and the gymnasium.

Jumping boards have been thrown in all directions by children who use them.

Mr. Weaver tripped and fell over one of these boards and broke his left arm.
