To acquaint the student with far-away cities and historic places, Bailey High's traveler's will use this column to give sketches of interesting sights visited this past summer.

MY TRIP TO NEBRASKA

This summer my father was elected as a delegate to the Methodist Rural Life conference in Nebraska. He decided to take the family and, while on the way, to visit our relatives in the western part of this state.

Before reaching the Tennessee line, we visited the Cherokee Reservation, nestled in a valley midst the Great Smoky Mountains.

One of the most interesting places that I visited was the Hermitage, the home of Andrew Jackson, in Nashville, Tennessee. While in Nashville we saw Scarritt and Vanderbilt Colleges.

After reaching Lincoln and finding our place to stay, we went out to the University of Nebraska, where the conference was in session.

One day at the University I met a Chinaman who had come to this country to prepare himself to become a missionary to his people in China. We were great chums during the conference.

While we were in Lincoln we saw the Nebraska capitol, a very beautiful building made of Indian limestone.

That we might gain knowledge of America's smallest incorporated town, we paid a visit to Boys' Town near Omaha, Nebraska. The boys have their own shoe shops, factories, churches and newspaper.

The mayor of Boy's Town is a boy of about fourteen years old.

Our last place of interest was Natural Bridge, Virginia. I enjoyed my trip, but was glad to see Bailey again. --T. Poole-
