

ADVERTISERS PROVE INTEREST BY REFUSING REFUND

Susie Babbles

To all our advertisers under nine-month contract who declined to request a refund for their ads in the February issue of the Bugle, that we were unable to publish because of bad weather, the staff wishes to extend heartiest thanks.

We feel that their act shows a genuine interest in the school and in the Bugle.

Because of our absence from school for three weeks during the snow, we find that we will not have sufficient time to edit more than eight issues this year.

Bailey Students Capable Of Meeting Crises

In spite of rain, snow, or sleet messages of importance get through one way or another.

After the first snow, Jean Pace, sophomore, walked approximately three miles through the snow to take to her uncle, Robert Beard, a message of the death of his baby. Mr. Beard's two sons, Rufus and Mitchel, seventh and third grades respectively, who were spending the night in Bailey, went with Jean. Having only a small foot path on which to walk, the three were almost exhausted when they reached their destination.

During the night of the second snow storm, Robert Burnette walked from his home in the country to Bailey to get a doctor for his father, who was seriously ill and who later died. Robert has two sisters and two brothers in school.

These two acts prove that Bailey students are equal to any emergency.

NOTE OF THANKS

The staff is glad to donate the following space to Mrs. Arthur Griffin, an occasional Bugle advertiser.

"I wish to thank everyone who has been so kind to me during my illness. The flowers, tasty foods, gifts, cards, notes, and visits helped to spread sunshine in my room while I was shut in. I shall never forget the kindness of all my friends, and may God bless you "evryone!"

Did You Know?

Well, whoever believed that boys studied? Here is one girl who is finally convinced, after having discovered "Poz" Glover and Rudolph Eatmon deep in the mysteries of an English textbook on a weekend.

Warning!

On your guard, juniors! Those tricky seniors are trying to make us reveal our plans for the banquet.

Goon Dept.....

What's the difference between a duck and a lunatic? One's quacky and the other's wacky.

Around the School.....

Ah seniors! Does this sudden interest in English mean you want to broaden your education or that you want to be exempted from exams?.....Some people surely achieve popularity when they rate a basketball suit.....The first thing to do to become a good typist, says Tommy Sanders, is to get a good eraser.

Any Missing Books?.....

Mrs. Lassiter has found a new way to increase the class treasury. Any books she finds unattended she stores away until the owners get desperate. Then she says, "Okay, the book's yours--for a nickel."

Odds and Ends.....

"Eeeeeee!!!" says Ben Etheridge, "New York, here I come.".....Judging by the number of balloons popping around school on Frank's birthday, some seniors are in their second childhood. O. Beard

BAILEY BUGLE
Published Monthly by JOURNALISM AND COMMERCIAL CLASSES
Bailey, North Carolina
MEMBER C.S.P.A.
Editor.....	Evelyn Poole
Asso. Eds. J. Edwards, B. Eatmon, M. Lancaster, B. Etheridge
Business Managers.....	Beth Bissette, Bobby L. Finch
Typist., Sue Lassiter, ...	Millard Morgan, Patsy Lamm
Proofreader.....	Octavia Beard
Circulation.....	Ruth Phillips
Vocational.....	Mavis Perry, Frank Lewis
Sports.....	Ruth Farmer, Willard Finch