

WHO KNOWS THE FACTS RELATIVE TO U. M. T.?

A proposed measure is now being considered by Congress that if passed will affect the young manhood of our country. We, as seniors, who will be most affected by the passing of this bill, would like to know the truth.

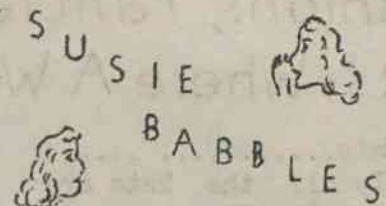

Isn't Universal Military Training preparation for war rather than for peace?

Is it in keeping with the traditions of our government?

Don't militaristic nations fight more readily than other nations?

Are we being given the truth rather than being fed with propaganda?

No person objects to serving his country if it is necessary; but if these questions cannot be answered in the affirmative, it is essential that we use our influence to urge people of voting age to aid in the prevention of the passing of this bill. Congressmen are responsive to the will of the people.

NOTICE!.....

At least one junior we know has changed her name--and we don't mean by getting married, either! Blanche Phillips wishes to be called "Betty" henceforth.

HEAR YE.....

About a half-dozen lucky high school students have ridden on Lewis Watson's red fire engine. In case you haven't seen it, it's a cute but ancient model, and is just the thing for hay rides. Hint! Mr. Watson.

AND THEY PICK'D 300 YARDS!

Greater love hath no man than this--that he pick plant beds for another to act in the senior play. Thanks, Boz, Shorty, and Billy Horner.

WE HOPE NOT.....

Typing II has been deep in the making of wills. "If I don't catch up soon," says Nell Thorne, "the next one I make will be my own."

HELPFUL HINT.....

The senior class thinks that the best way to ease stage fright is to throw a square dance just before the curtain goes up.

AND HE HEARD.....

Now, wouldn't it be nice if all we girls had brothers who were as good at dishwashing as Talmage ("Tankey") Poole? O. B.

I Got Feature Blues

I wrack my brain,
I am in pain,
I cannot write a feature.

I tear my hair,
Sprawl in my chair,
Wish poison for my teacher.

Now if that wall
Would only fall,
I'd have a subject, maybe,

But since it won't
I guess I don't--
I think I'll just be lazy!

The April showers of 1564 sprouted ideas in the mind of Shakespeare. Who knows what those of 1948 will do?
