

Who's Who At BHS This Month

Ed Pace                      Sonja Lamm

Because of the love for cartooning, Ed Pace, freshman, is now taking a course in cartoons from Moon Gag Cartoon School in Fall Creek, Wisconsin. This company, recognizing his ability, gave him the name of Writer's Digest, a magazine listing the companies that buy cartoons.

Ed receives his lessons by mail, and in return he sends his cartoons to the instructor, where they are critized. Fifty-six lessons will be taken.

Remarks Ed, "I have been drawing cartoons as long as I can remember and find a pleasure in doing it."

SHORT STORY WRITING

Writer's Digest related the fact that Collier's was running a short story contest. In this contest Ed may enter five stories; and, if one is accepted, a choice of a cash prize or a course in short story writing is offered. He is considering doing so, since he is also interested in

"Oh, I enjoy helping people," comments Sonja Lamm, fifth grader, often found helping her grandmother, Mrs. Maisie Bissette, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Glover, shut-ins.

Sonja lives with her grandmother, who isn't too well. She helps her with the washing of dishes, sweeping the floors, scrubbing; and work with flowers. She often goes to Mr. and Mrs. Glover's to help with small chores.
