

SCHOOL ANTICIPATES NEW LUNCHROOM

Budget plans for 1951-52 call for an additional wing to the school building that will house a new, more modernly equipped lunchroom on the lower floor.

This year two new lunchroom regulations were added. Rule one is that teachers must see the students to their seats; rule two requires that everyone must have tickets.

Mrs. K. F. Lewis, supervisor of the lunchroom, plans the daily menus for approximately 375 students.

From last September through December, the Federal Government's School Lunch Program donated to the lunchroom three cents per plate without milk and five cents per plate with milk. From January through May five cents per plate without milk and seven cents per plate with milk was donated.

Mrs. Lewis and her assistants, Mrs. Wade Joyner and Mrs. Everette Lamm, prepare the lunches with the aid of student workers. These are Lois Jean Medlin, Dixie Rae Glover, Doris Murray, Anne Bunn, Catherine McKeel, Lizzie Mae Edwards, Beanie Adams, Bobby Ray Bryant, Ester Finch, Audry Pittman, Geraldine Strickland, Avon Bryant, Bud Bryant, George Thigpen, Micheal Davis, Shirley Mae Bryant, and Virginia Richardson.

Weaver Sports New Ford

Most people expect others to remember them at graduation time; Principal M. W. Weaver, has reversed the custom and presented himself a gift.

A new 1950 Ford is Mr. Weaver's own award to himself for getting his master's degree in Education from the University of North Carolina last August. The two-door black sedan, equipped with seat covers and a heater, replaces the principal's '39 Ford.

When asked who receives the most pleasure from the car, Mr. Weaver remarked, "It's a close race between the dog, Timmy, and the children, Sue and Janet; but all of us enjoy it."

No special trips in the new car are planned until next year.
