

A Change in Life

Theme by Clara Lou Stott

I am the youngest of six children. When I was in the second grade, my father died, leaving my mother to care for us. There were three in school, one in college, and two working.

Soon my mother and I were staying by ourselves, because the others had graduated and started out in life to earn money and make homes for themselves.

CHANGE

Two years later my mother decided to buy a business of her own. She bought a cafe and our lives changed entirely. I found that instead of staying home at night I had to stay at the cafe. I got my lessons, but I missed what I needed most--the quietness of home, the warmth, and the feeling of being able to go home in the afternoon and know when I got there my mother would be waiting.

GROWING UP

As the years go by, things and people change. I changed. I grew tall and had braces on my teeth to develop a better personality, find faults in my dressing, and above all be a leader in my work and recreation.

I had many friends, but there was one person I put all my confidence in. That was my mother. Every problem I had I asked my mother for advice, and she gave it to the greatest extent of her knowledge.

I'm sixteen now, and like all young, I wonder what the future holds for me. Will it be a life of excitement, a career, home-life, or life with my mother? It's a big secret. Only one person knows, but isn't it wonderful to have something to look forward to!

The senior class staged Bailey's first parade November 16 for the purpose of advertising the senior play presented November 17.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

While discussing lay-away plans on Miss Edith Farmer's general business class, Audrey Pittman said "I'm afraid of lay-away plans."

Miss Farmer, "Why are you afraid of them?" Audrey, "I'm afraid the clerks will forget and lay them too far away."

BED ROOM SUITS
LINOLEUM RUGS!

For The Restful, Modern Bedroom Furnishings See
Our - Large Variety

BAILEY FURNITURE CO.