

Doris Harper Weds 'Woody' Parker

Miss Doris Harper, sixth and seventh grade teacher, was united in marriage to Clarence Elwood (Woody) Parker at her home in Stanhope, November 24.

A candlelight ceremony at five-thirty in the afternoon was the setting for the wedding. Miss Harper wore a pearl-grey suit, copied from a Paris design, and a purple orchid corsage. Accessories were brown lizard bag and shoes, and a brown fur felt hat.

After the wedding ceremony, the couple left for Asheville, North Carolina, for a six-day honeymoon.

Mrs. Parker first met her husband while he was visiting in Spring Hope. After a two years' engagement they were married.

Commenting on married life, Mrs. Parker said, "It is wonderful; I wouldn't be single again for anything."

Sixth Grade Presents Thanksgiving Play

Mrs. Jim Underwood's sixth grade presented "Mr. Turkey Leads the Parade" during the chapel period on November 22.

The cast represented the vegetables familiar to the Thanksgiving table and gave the history of the vegetables. "Mr. Turkey", although king of the Thanksgiving feast, found that he is one of the few "all American" foods so commonly found on our tables at Thanksgiving.

Grades Present Program at P. T. A.

"Why the Chimes Rang" was presented at the P. T. A. meeting on December 14 by the pupils in Mrs. Doris Parker's and Mrs. Jim Underwood's rooms, supported by the high school girls' glee club.

Directing the "Cathedral" music in the play was

Mrs. Mary Tichenor.

The federal government has donated this month to the lunchroom 250 pounds of butter and seven bags of potatoes, and for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners, 186 pounds of turkey.
