

Bailey Gains Lady Doctor

Dr. Josephine Newell, Bailey's first lady doctor, after spending a number of years in various schools and hospitals, began her practice here a few weeks ago.

DEGREE

Dr. Newell received a degree in Chemical Engineering at the University of South Carolina in 1943, followed by nine months of research work. Because of illness and inability to do strenuous work, she taught physics, chemistry, and trigonometry for one year in her home town, Henderson, North Carolina. Then she attended medical school at the University of Maryland and the School of Medicine in Baltimore for four years. After this study she went to Rex Hospital, in Raleigh, where she served as an interne and medical resident for one year.

Dr. Newell has as her assistant Miss Mary Lou Davis, who was an assistant to the director of nurses at Rex Hospital. Miss Davis, from Oxford, North Carolina, and Dr. Newell have been intimate friends for a number of years.

The interview further revealed that Dr. Newell is favorably impressed with Bailey and its people. She says, "The people have been very wonderful to us in helping us to get settled."

She and her assistant are residing in an apartment at the home of C. H. Walker.

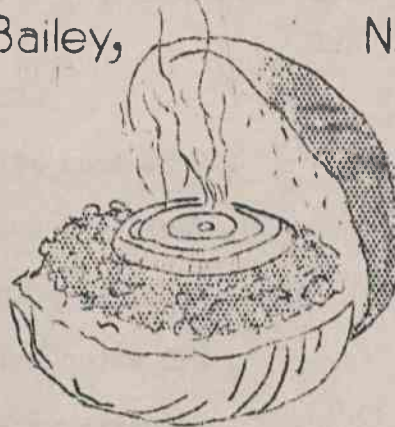

Library Purchases Literary Map

Added to the library is a literary map of North Carolina containing the names of one hundred thirty-three authors of North Carolina, represented by pictures or books.

This map is published by the North Carolina English Teachers Organization to be used particularly in the study of North Carolina literature.

The map was framed and hung by George Pittman, William Lamm, Denny Liles, and Lamar Finch in connection with their agricultural work.
