Wells Posts Mottos for Contemplation

John Wells, agriculture teacher and advisor for the chapter, would like to pass on to everyone the mottos he has pinned on his bulletin boards. They read:

If you know it all, you can't learn any more.

A man's judgment is no better than his information.

Character is right thinking becoming a habit!

Safety doesn't cost you anything until you forget it.

Life is a grindstone that polishes some people but grinds others.

There are always three ways to avoid criticism: Say nothing, do nothing, be nothing.

Egotist is the easiest to entertain. Just listen to him and that conceited cuss will consider you a great companion.

Be friendly with the folks you know. If it weren't for them, you'd be a total stranger.

Boys Assemble Cedar Chests

Nine boys have just completed cedar chests to take home to give to relatives or to sell.

The materials were ordered from Giler Kendill, in Huntsville, Alabama. Parts were already cut out.

Other projects just completed in the shop are: Three lawn chairs-Bruce Finch; magazine holder and table combinations-Jerry Stone and Carroll Jones; picture frame-Wayne Lamm; refinishing chairs-Wayne Lamm, Dwight Glover, and Roosevelt Warren; typing table-Roosevelt Warren; card table-Gene Finch.

F.F.A. Scraps

Jerry Stone, "Runt" Finch, Bruce Finch, and Wiley Williamson painted the Washroom green and white. "Boss" thinks the floor would look like a modern painting if it had a little red to go with those green and white puddles.

Sign seen on finished article in shop: Wet Varnish-Touch.

December's seed indentifying contest is being postponed until January 17.

10th, 11th, and 12th graders have just turned in their past summer project records for grading.
