

School Gets Off To Good Start

School, it seems, has started off wonderfully well this year.

Better co-operation, harder work, and less noise are some of the fine qualities that have been noticed and commented on by teachers and students alike.

Every student who is helping to make this so, should be proud; and, certainly, he is to be highly commended.

Every Parent's Support Needed

Strength is gained first through cooperation, second through numbers. This paper reveals that the students are cooperating well, but we now lack numerical strength and cooperation of the parents.

Represented in our school are 368 homes, yet the Bailey Bugle is in only 38 per cent of these homes.

There are approximately 700 parents of the Bailey students, yet at the first meeting of the P.T.A. only about 50 of these parents displayed their interest in the school by their presence.

Upon moving into the new cafeteria in December much new equipment will be needed to make it complete.

We must have the voice of the parents, if we are to know whether to "dig" into the P.T.A. funds for these supplies or to procure the money elsewhere.

The school will grow in proportion as it gets the parent's support. We need this loyalty.

BUGLE Receives Letter

The following letter is typical of the number of requests that come to the Bugle staff.

BAILEY BUGLE
Published monthly
10¢ per copy

EDITOR: Mary Ann Edwards
ASSC. EDITOR: Wayne Lamm
Lois Thigpen
BUSINESS MGR. Jerry Perry
STAFF: Ann Earp-Bruce Finch
Peggy Liles---Shirley Webb
Vivian Glover-Tanya Glover
Jimmy Harris---Bertha Bass
Rena Bisette
TYPISTS: Carolyn Howell
Frances Carroll ---- Joyce
Williams-Jackie Bragg
ADVISORS: Farmer--Lassiter

2208 L Street
Auburn, Nebraska

EDITOR, BAILEY BUGLE

Dear Sir:

Please send me as many issues of the 1951-52 Bailey Bugle as the enclosed dollar warrants. If you have insufficient number of copies remaining, please apply the dollar to a yearly, or part, of 1952-53 subscription for Bailey Bugle. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Claude C. Nordbrock

Claude C. Nordbrock

Between The Covers

With almost every turn of the head, the youth of today are met by chaos created either by the Korean conflict, by crime, or by deaths caused by reckless driving. It is no wonder then that you see us youth seeking an escape from all the cares of the day.

May I offer a suggestion to all youths and also extend an invitation to join me in learning about something that will give us a chance to travel, to learn about new people, and to understand those at home.

This that I speak of is not new, for it has been around for ages. Some of us, however, have failed to take advantage of this opportunity to "escape".

My article will be about books. Books that I have read and would like to pass on to you so that maybe you will find something in them to inspire you enough to suggest them to others. Often many of us "draw up" at the thought of reading books because we think they are unexciting. We must begin to realize that books are stories about people like our own back door neighbors and that by reading them we become more tolerant.

Won't you join me while I go "BETWEEN THE COVERS"?

COMING

Ben Etheridge, '48 graduate, tells his summer experiences with the cast of "Unto These Hills" in the Oct. issue of the Bugle.