

They Did It!

Yes, the juniors have exceeded last year's top-class record of magazine sales by $8.10. These two classes have been the only ones in Bailey High to sell $1000 or more of magazine subscriptions.

High salesman, WAYNE B. FINCH, was trailed by WAYNE LAMM by an even two dollars.

HIGH SALESMEN

Because both boys were so nearly matched, each was awarded a first prize. Wayne B. chose a camera set, a Parker 21 pen and pencil set, and a key chain; Wayne Lamm, an Olympic wrist watch and a Parker 21 set.

All $10-and-above salesmen were eligible to compete for the Jack Pot prizes. Of these Bruce Finch, Shirley Webb, Rayford Perry, and Jerry High were the winners.

CERTIFICATE WINNERS

JIMMY HARRIS, JERRY HIGH, DORIS JOHNSON, BRUCE FINCH, PATRICIA DEW, CARROLL JONES, PEGGY LILES, DWIGHT GLOVER, and AMY HORTON received a certificate of achievement for selling subscriptions amounting to $30 or more.

The junior profit made from sales will go in the junior treasury for expenses, the largest one being the Junior-Senior banquet.

Queens To Receive Crowns ; Classes To Stage Stunts

AWARDS AWAIT WINNERS

Tonight, after their crowning in the auditorium, the Misses Halloweens will become the reigning queens of all the stalking ghosts and witches hereabouts.

The Halloween spirit will be further in evidence as each room stages its stunt.

All this, the program committee says, will cost adults 35¢; children 20¢.

Each room will sponsor one Miss Halloween candidate. Votes will be one cent each. The winner from the elementary school will become junior Miss Halloween; the high school winning queen will be crowned senior queen.

During the stunt hour, all home rooms will give a brief stunt.

Five dollars will go to the room one through seven having the best stunt. An other $5, to the remaining grades.

Miss Edith Farmer and Miss Idalia Oglesby are chairmen of the program.

Students To Stage Mock Election

Next Tuesday while the school's parents are casting their votes for one of the two presidential candidates, the U. S. History class will be conducting a similar election in the library for high school students.

The mock election, sponsored by MISS IDALIA OGLESBY, will be kept in swing by the election officials, JAN PERRY and RAYFORD PERRY.

Extra Pose Proves Beneficial For Seniors

Seniors save school time and Dad's money, says the advisor, by having an extra pose made for the senior edition of the Bugle by the photographer who took pictures of the entire school in September.

The pictures proved satisfactory except in the case of three or four students who have had a retake made.

This two-birds-at-one-shot idea proved to be cheaper than a regular studio sittings and eliminated taking time out to go to a studio.

Quartet Renders Marimbo Concert

Declared to be "the best for the money spent," the Hammerettes program of last week "was enjoyed" by the student body.

For an admission of 10¢ most of the students saw and heard an all-girl marimba quartette.

Graduates of Southeast School Assemblies in Greensboro, the four girls presenting the concert rendered a forty-five minute program.
