

Hi, Sports Fans:

How many saw the class tournaments? Did you notice how hard and rough Jan and Billie Faye Perry, Shirley and Joyce Williams played against each other? Sisters can really be hot competitors, can't they?

What do you think of Clara Lou's shift to guard? She seems to be doing well after playing forward three years.

Those senior and sophomore girls really are about the two toughest teams together I have seen.

They played so hard the spectators were glad they wound up with a tie. That tie gave a good picture of how evenly matched they were.

Both teams glided across the floor as smoothly and evenly as any team possibly could, yet the following night they discovered there were others who could play well too.

BOYS

The junior boys showed up well in the class tournaments by defeating the freshmen by a large margin.

Although they are small and have little experience, the freshmen stuck there, fighting hard against the more experienced juniors.

With a couple more years of playing and practicing, this class will offer some good prospects.

Fresh paint, improvements in the gymnasium, and an increased interest in the cheering section are indicative of a "good sport's year ahead" thinks the student body.

Admission prices will remain the same, 20 and 40 cents, unless they are changed at the next county principals' meeting.

Last year's students' cheering support was regarded as "poor" by many, but team support was tremendous in the cheering section during the recent class tournament. This increased interest is believed to be indicative of an improved cheering section for this year.
