School People Plan Holiday Trips

Several high school students and teachers are taking advantage of the ten-day Christmas vacation by visiting out of state or somewhere in North Carolina.

Virginia is the stopping point for most of the students visiting outside North Carolina. Shirley Webb, Doris Johnson, Romaine Thigpen, and Bruce Finch are planning to visit in Richmond. Joyce Denton has plans for spending several days in Newport News.

Martha Jane Vick will stay in Washington, D.C., throughout the holidays.

Jean Barnes plans to visit Red Springs, North Carolina.

Miss Frances Wilson will attend her brother's wedding, December 27, in Louisburg, North Carolina.

Miss Idalia Oglesby has plans to visit her parents in Hamilton, North Carolina. Mrs. George C. Johnson is also planning to spend the holidays at her home in Oxford, North Carolina.

the above mentioned plus LEWIS BISSETTE, JERRY HIGH, BILLY LILES, and MAC BURGESS. All of these attribute greatly to the team. We have a lot of work to do yet, but I believe after all misunderstanding and errors are finally abolished, we will have a winning team. To reach the road to success we will have to travel over some mighty rocky roads.

Librarian Pleads For Book Care

High school librarian, IDALIA OGLESBY, having mended twenty-four books and still mending, urges all students to take care of the books and magazines in the library and study hall.

Two things are depicted on the bulletin board in the study hall this month. One is "So Little Time", a hint encouraging students to read short stories.

The other reminds all that this is the Christmas season by wishing each a "MERRY CHRISTMAS".
