

Honor Roll Increases

Up two goes the honor roll this month over the record made last month, with the sophomores and seniors tying for first place.

For the second reporting period eleven made honor roll; eight of these came from the senior and sophomore classes. The freshmen girls ran a close second with three.

Making honor roll in the senior class were Mary Ann Edwards, Clara Lou Stott, Jan Perry, and Fannie Lou Manning.

Sophomore honor roll students this month are Billie Faye Perry and Marshall High. Edwin Finch and Marlene Eatmon made honor roll but were absent because of sickness.

Freshmen girls attaining honor grades were Katherine Whitley, Sylvia Vick,

Ex-Editor Donates Books To Journalism Class

Octavia Beard, 1948 editor of the Bailey Bugle, before leaving Bailey this month, gave three books, her personal notebook, and a few of her own designed ads to the journalism class for their reference library.

Octavia graduated from Bailey High School as a journalism student and went to North Carolina University to take up journalism.

The names of the three books are NEWS GATHERING AND NEWS WRITING, NEWS PAPER ADVERTISING, TYPOGRAPHY, LAYOUT & ADVERTISING PRODUCTION.

Students Learning Christmas Carols

Playing Christmas carols, students' advancing to their first grade book, and an old student continuing her music study are some of the accomplishments of the music department this month as reported by Mrs. Carlton Johnson, instructor.

"From now until Christmas the students will be playing popular music and Christmas carols," she adds.

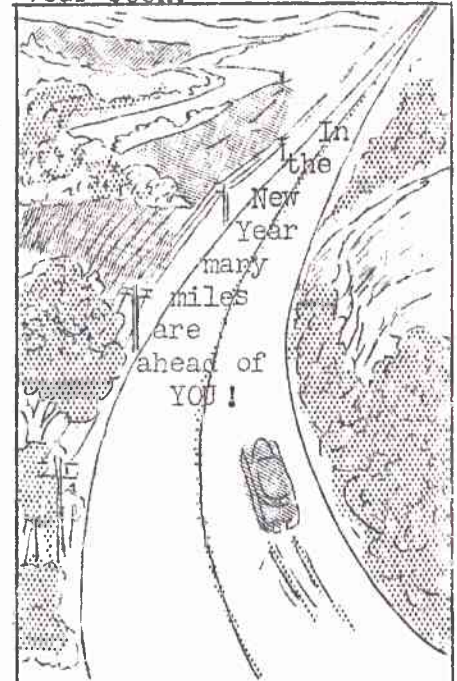

Patricia Dew, an old student but a new face in this year's music department, is continuing her music lessons from last and Elsie Ray Eatmon.

Mrs. Thurman Farmer, a student who has been out of school for twelve years but came back this year, made grades that this paper feels should be given recognition, even though she didn't make honor roll. Her grades were three A's and two B+'s.

Judy Smith and Ann Brock have begun in their first year book.
