

To New York Goes Bugle Staff

In an effort to improve the BUGLE, the staff and advisors will be attending the three-day COLUMBIA SCHOLASTIC PRESS CONVENTION in New York next month. The trip will be financed in part by the BUGLE funds.

The group will leave Bailey by cars March 10. They will spend their first night in Washington.

The trip is being undertaken for instructional purposes, as an award for work done, and for cultural gains.

CLASS HELPS FINANCE TRIP

By selling BUGLE ads and subscriptions, autograph books, and school emblems, the class had raised enough money to help finance the trip in part.

A complete schedule for each day's work and entertainment has been planned.

The first day the travelers will visit Mount Vernon, and the Capitol, the Library of Congress, and any other places in Washington that time permits.

C.S.P.A. MEETING

Principal features of the three-day stay in New York will be attending clinics and lectures at Columbia University. Prior to the beginning of the convention will be a four-hour lecture tour of New York City.

After a banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Saturday, the group will stage a shopping tour of the large stores.

Nightly entertainment planned for the class are two musicals—South Pacific and Maggie—a play, John Brown's Body, and a performance at Radio City.

Grades

low average showing on biology but gained passing grades on examinations.

A majority of the students made poor grades on English work. One student stated, "English takes study and many of the students are not willing to put forth the effort."

It is the general opinion that pupils need to strive for better attendance in order to get more class instruction and to devote definite hours to study.

Teachers

MISS NANCY DICKENS, public school music teacher, was absent one day because of a freak accident to her foot.

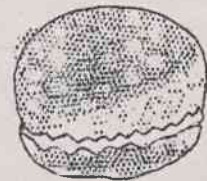

Off to the dentist and flu were the reasons MRS. EFFIE HAGWOOD missed school.

Others ill have been MRS. FLORABELLE BYNUM, MRS. E. H. PASCHALL.

SENIOR INVITATIONS

Calling cards and invitations have been selected by the seniors. The invitations have the new and different Dutch fold.
