

Beginning Ground Improvement Is Desired Step

What many students and community people have longed to see is an improvement in the school grounds. The home economics classes are meeting this wish by beginning flower plots between the light breakers of the new building.

More effort of this kind would be indicative of community and student interest in the appearance of the grounds. Comments heard both in school and throughout the community reveal awareness of the present ground conditions. It is believed that with community organizations and the P.T.A. working cooperatively the grounds could be made more attractive.

Certainly the students will take pride in this project and help in whatever way possible.

A 'Thank You' Can Cover Many A Mile

For several years North Carolina has transported her students to school by using student drivers for the school buses. These drivers receive a dollar per day, or twenty dollars per month.

Occasionally it is necessary for the regular bus drivers to be away from school. To take their places upon such occasions, there are substitute drivers.

It is becoming a known fact around school that too often the regular bus drivers "forget" to say "thank you", much less to pay the expected dollar per day for the services of the substitute drivers.

Admittedly, the substitutes gain experience from driving for the regular bus drivers, but no one wants to be a tool doing someone else's work without being shown some kindness or remuneration.
