

Class Officers Tackle Classroom Duties

September, 1951

Upon the shoulders of Judith Lamm and Marshall High, freshmen; Cornielus Boykin and Wayne B. Finch, sophomores; Lamar Finch, junior; and R. O. Pace, senior; lies the responsibility of guiding the high school classes in their years activities.

Working with LAMAR FINCH, junior, are James Wiggs, vice-president; Barbara Nell Lamm, secretary; and Clara Lou Stott, treasurer.

Jrs. Attempt To Solve Problem Of Absences

December, 1951

Trial by a five-man jury is given each person who is absent in the junior class, with a fine of ten cents if he does not have a satisfactory excuse for failure to attend school.

Juniors take the absentee problem seriously. They hope to improve the school attendance by this action.

These upper-classmen are also staging a contest in which each member of the class is either a one or two. The losers must entertain the winners at the close of the month.

Members of the jury are Reba Bryant, Jennings Nixon, Bertha Bass, Shirley Creech, and the class sponsor, Mrs. Laurine T. Lassiter.

WISECRACKS

Need a book of wisecracks? Ask JUNIOR BASS and HARVEY DENTON if they have one.
