

Have You?

Christine Fowler

Heard--Mr. Weaver describe how he felt when he first began wearing his bifocal glasses?

How the panel discussion turned out for this month's FHA meeting?

Billie Faye Perry won the prize in high school for turning in the most money for the polio drive? (It was a box of homemade candy.)

That Shirley Williams brought a cook book to school for her school book? (It's really true!)

Joyce Wilson laugh? (You really are missing something!)

Lewis Bissette is now a member of Uncle Sam's Army?

The staff really is going to New York?

The when and the where of the Junior-Senior Banquet? (The juniors probably hope you haven't.)

The juniors have measured for their class rings?

The seniors have selected their caps and gowns, invitations, and calling cards?

Noticed--Pattie Sue Thompson's new hair style? (Really is becoming!)

The attractive posters in Mrs. Farmer's room?

All the FHA handbooks being passed around for autographs?

How easily those juniors use in their conversation those big words they're learning in English.

Seen--Our new cheerleader? (Principal Weaver)

Stella Jones' pretty handkerchief embroidered with all the seniors' names?

Realized--The significance of this date--February

19? (The Mother-Daughter Banquet, the publication of the Bugle that will go to New York, and the President of Turkey's visit to Bailey School.

Observed--How well we can carry on our classes despite the hammering and sawing necessary for the new science lab and girls' lounge.
