

Co.Repairs, Repaints School, Teacherage This Summer

By painting the woodwork, both inside and out, re-finishing some of the floors, and patching the plaster, the county painters this summer gave to the school and the agricultural buildings a "new look." A complete paint job was done at the teacherage.

The lower part of halls of the main building and the boys' rest room were painted a medium green, the upper portion, white. All the outside woodwork received a new coat. The outside woodwork of the agricultural building and the class room received the first coat of paint in a number of years.

The new elementary library, chemistry lab, and the agricultural class room received a coat of varnish on the floors.

The workmen replastered all the plaster that had fallen from the walls of the classrooms, hall, and the auditorium.

After the painters finished the school and agricultural buildings, they went to the teacherage and repaired and painted the building inside and out.
