

Visiting With The Elementary Grades

By Sonja Manning

Student participation in class activities has led to the organization of clubs in a number of elementary rooms.

Farms, animals, Halloween, and poetry and songs have kept Mrs. Effie Hagwood's and Mrs. Florabelle By-mun's rooms busy.

Should one be interested in the weather for the past month, he can find the answer in Mrs. Olivia Barnes' room where the students have a weather chart, recording the temperature and weather conditions of each day.

OFFICERS

Mrs. Ruby Boykin's fourth and fifth grade officers are:

President--Nelson Skinner
 Sec.--Billy Lee Stallings
 Treasurer--Virginia Perry
 They hold a meeting every Friday afternoon.

Bailey's "Hornets" have their namesake, the "Little Hornets," a club in Mrs. Sarah May's fifth and sixth grades. They plan to give seasonal programs once a month.

Another club is the "Good Times" club in Mrs. Jim

Underwood's room. The meeting will be held every two weeks at which times a program will be presented and a social hour enjoyed.

"Bailey Jacks" in Mrs. Rachel Paschall's room meet every second and fourth Friday. The pupils have charge of the programs. They also have a "clean-up plate" group. To get a check, each child must eat everything on his plate. They also check each person daily for cleanliness. The one who is the cleanest gets to wear the ribbon that day.

LEAF COLLECTION

Should one want to see a collecting of leaves, then go to Miss Clee Eatmon's room. They post on their bulletin board the best written work.

Mrs. Emogene Evan's seventh and eight grades are making verb booklets and health poster.

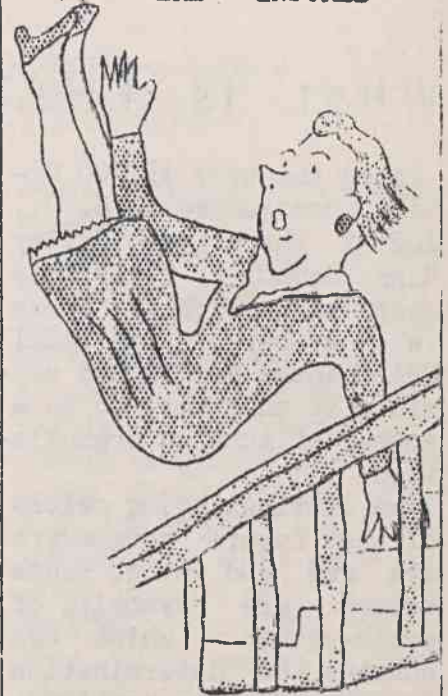

Miss Rachel Bissette's seventh grade have decorated two bulletin boards with pictures and articles on this month. They are planning an indoor garden, using various plants and flowers in it.
