

Guilty Party 'Surprise' To Audience

According to the admitted "surprise" of the audience the murderer of AUNT CAROLINE, of the senior play, turned out to be the one "least expected."

Miss Idalia Oglesby, director of the production, believes this is proof of the "good acting" done by the cast and the well-planned mystery of the plot.

The class cleared $115.25 on the play. With this money they plan to rent their caps and gowns, and use it to help defray other senior expenses: class night, the school gift, and the commencement speaker.

Last week a repeat performance of the play was given at Mt. Pleasant. The class received 1/4 or $10 of the money taken in. They gave the remainder to the Mt. Pleasant community building fund for repairs on the building.

Cty. Conducts Classes For H.S. Teachers

Assistant Superintendent C. H. Fries Jr. is sponsoring special classes for high school teachers to improve instruction in the classroom.

In most cases someone from the State Department of Public Instruction meets with the teachers.

The classes are for high school teachers of science, social studies, health and physical education, math, and English.

The last meeting will be on Monday, November 29.

Last Friday there was a district meeting in Raleigh for the teachers.
