F.H.A. Presents Chapel Program

In recognition of National FHA week the local chapter presented a chapel program on FHA and its activities as they pertained to the local chapter. The program began with all members singing the FHA prayer song.

DEVOTIONAL

An "inspirational" devotion was given by Barbara Boykin, who read the Lord's Prayer off stage as Jane Earp, dressed as a girl going to church, stood in front of the curtain.

Arlene Jordan told about the activities in which the chapter participates. Then the songs that members learned at camp and rallies were sung. Arlene then told of the purposes, the emblem, and the flower of the organization.

GIFTS

All teachers were asked to come to the stage to receive a red rose, FHA flower, presented by Arlene Jordan.

After presentation of roses, Bobbie Lou Batts and Phyllis Bissette held the FHA emblem, which was spotlighted, while the group sang the FHA benediction.

To begin National FHA week in Bailey, the young girls of the Methodist Church had a special program on FHA.

Girls Full Members

On November 1, the FHA had its regular initiation for the freshmen girls to bring them into the FHA chapter as active members. Each girl wore her dad's old shirt, necktie, one regular shoe, one tennis shoe, a sock of a kind; books were carried in a sack; and makeup was placed on one side of their face.

There were 39 girls to enter the local FHA Chapter. Altogether there is a total of 100 members in the Bailey Chapter now.
