

Teacher Plans Ahead For Year's Work

W. G. Edwards has his work in the science department outlined for the year, so as, he reports, "to keep his work correlated."

Opening the geography class work for the year was a study of the Soviet Union and the countries of Europe, stressing the importance of each in world affairs.

In the future this class will study Asia, then North and South America, ending with the United States.

Edwards says he planned it this way, so that the class would have an idea of the competition in world politics between the two great powers, Russia and the United States, and the part each plays in this role.

GENERAL SCIENCE

General Science class began the year with the study of astronomy, physics, chemistry, and geology. In the future the students will begin to study biology and geography.

BIOLOGY

In biology the work centers around "Fundamental Life Problems" and "The

Bathrooms Appear In Good Condition

General opinion of the Bailey High School girls is that in appearance the upstairs girls' bathroom does not compare with the downstairs one.

Maxine Reid, Bailey High School maid, is in charge of cleaning the girls' bathrooms. "The newer, upstairs bathroom is smaller and easier to clean than the older one downstairs," says Maxine.

The girls in high school say that they are "proud of the new bathroom. It is so much more convenient, Unity Of All Living Things."

The class, according to the instructor, has to learn how lower life forms in order to understand how the lives of men can be better.

The study of the microscopic animals often causes vast improvements to be made in human lives by control of diseases.

and the locks on the doors are another nice feature."

Mrs. L. T. Lassiter supervises the upstairs bathroom and Mrs. R. G. L. Edwards is the supervisor of the downstairs bathroom. They report to Maxine when anything is amiss.
