

Those Who Came, Saw And Conquered (ALUMNI)

Mrs. Keith Price, the former CHRISTINE FOWLER and valedictorian of the 1954 graduating class, is now working as secretary in Raleigh for the Employment Office.

BETTY LOW STALLINGS, '55, is using her high school bookkeeping, shorthand, and typing as a secretary of Farms Service Company in Wilson.

"For added coaching training and for enjoyment," JIMMY HARRIS, '54, student at Atlantic Christian College, organized last fall a basketball team, the Red Wings. Finishing second in the Eastern Carolina Coast Semi-pro League, the team considers it has had a successful season.

Apparently finding Bailey graduates satisfactory, Colonial stores in Raleigh are employing CORNELIUS BOYKIN and WAYNE B. FINCH, '54, MARSHALL HIGH and JOHN ROBERT LAMM, '55.

Only three of the '55 graduating class chose to further their education. They are PAULA HORNER, East Carolina College; EDWIN FINCH, North Carolina State College; and BOBBY DEW, Gaston Technical Institute, Gastonia.

FANNIE LOU MANNING, graduate of class of '53, will graduate from East Carolina College on May 20, 1956, with a B.S. Degree. She will be teaching physical education in Danville, Virginia next year. Among her activities have been President of Wilson Hall, Summer of '53; Marshal 4; and Secretary of Senior class.

WAYNE LAMM, former student of Bailey and a Wilson Times reporter and feature writer, has been appointed staff writer for the University of North Carolina News Bureau at Chapel Hill. Wayne entered the University for the spring semester and is majoring in English and journalism.

An English and art major at Atlantic Christian College is EUNICE PERRY, '52. She is now doing her practice teaching at Stantonsburg High School.

United in marriage March 31 at the Mt. Pleasant Methodist Church were

JOYCE WILLIAMS and Elmer Rhodes. Joyce is employed at the Telephone and Telegraph Company in Wilson.

Combining a career with marriage, Mrs. Martin Van Lee, formerly JEAN WELLS, graduate of '52, works for the A and EC Railroad. She was wed in Huntsville, Alabama, March 31, in the First Christian Church. Mr. Lee hails from Pantego and is teaching in Kinston, where they are residing.

The birth of a daughter, Robin Marsha, was announced March 15 by MR. and MRS. CHARLES WILLIAMS, graduates of '51. Mrs. Williams is the former FAYE FINCH.

MOTHER'S NEW HAT By: Brenda Fulghum

Mother bought a new hat today,
A sight you should have seen.
I laughed out loud as I heard Dad say,
"Where did you get that thing?"

On top of her head it sits
With feathers like out stretched wings.
That's why I hate to admit
My mama bought the thing.

Then Mother gave way;
Put it back in the bag,
And we all heard her say,
"It's only a gag".

SIMILES AT SUNSET By: Keith Glover

Like a red blaze of fire,
The sun silhouetted the thickets.
Like fluffy cake frosting,
A pink haze of clouds etched the budding trees.
Like a flirtatous girl,
A catbird chirped teasingly to the hungry kittens.
Like a squirrel playing in the leaves,
A soft breeze rustled the Azalea.
Like lovely children,
The flowers, nodding, bid adieu.
Like a child kneeling for bedtime prayers,
The blushing sun sank below.
