Boys Train At Camp

To learn the fundamentals of basketball, to play on different size courts, and to gain experience, four high school boys attended a basketball training camp at Campbell College for a week in late July.

Jimmy Dew, Fred Lamm, J.W. Bisette and Hodges Prevette from Bailey were among 150 boys from all over North Carolina trained at Campbell College for the up-coming season.

PRACTICE

Learning the basic facts of the game and scrimmaging consumed 9 hours of the early-started day. The players practiced on three different size courts.

Coach "Bones" McKinney of Wake Forest, with the assistance of coaches in neighboring colleges, organized the training camp for all high school boys interested in basketball.

For their training and week's lodging, the boys paid a fee of $25.00.

The gym floor has been repaired, probably the first of October. Please come out and view the teams.

We are boasting that Bailey has two of the fastest guards in Nash County this year. This honor goes to Faye Lamm and Christie L. Finch...

Competing for a place on the boys squad will be approximately one senior, three juniors, and a number of freshmen and sophomores. This is according to last year's statistics.

A possible star of tomorrow in basketball will be Jimmy Dew's baby brother, Ronnie. Jimmy states, "He'll be another Ronnie Shavlik,"

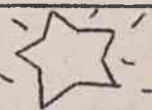

If Fred Lamm is as fast with a basketball as he is with his smile, he should be an asset to the team...

Predictions are that our girls team will be the lowest in the county...
