Principal Weaver Stresses 'First Things First'

Because of low grades, poor conduct, general lack of "buckling down", and failure to follow regulations, Principal M. W. Weaver conducted a "general complaint" assembly for the high school this month.

"Emphatically and spiritedly" he stressed putting "first things first" and insisted that no student should expect "special privileges."

All regulations were explained by Principal Weaver. Later he gave each teacher, class officer, and individual student a chance to ask questions or add any comments. When questioned, some of the teachers agreed that it was a "very inspiring and democratic way" of thrashing out problems. They seemed to think it was a "timely meeting" but should have been stressed six weeks earlier.

BUGLE Earns Plaque

"Excellence of production and writing" won for the BUGLE a plaque at East Carolina College Press Institute this month.

Approximately 150 staff members of newspapers and yearbooks in high schools of Eastern North Carolina attended the meeting.

The school is to receive the plaque for the best mimeographed paper at a presentation in the school auditorium.

teacher, voiced his opinion by saying, "If it was not for five per-cent of the students, there would not be a need for such a meeting."

Principal Weaver ended the assembly by saying, "We sand paper a cedar chest to smooth off its rough edges. Why don't we try sanding off our own rough edges?"

"Come out tonight and celebrate the fun of Halloween by enjoying the program, dancing, carnival, and other activities," urges Mrs. Moody Glover, chairman of the PTA finance committee.

The program will begin at 7:30 in the auditorium. Admission for adults will be $1.00 and for students through the 12th grade 25¢. Twelve teachers and their grademothers are in charge of a three-to-four minute skit on the month assigned.

ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Moody Glover and Mrs. John McKeel will be in charge of the cake walks in the auditorium, gymnasium, and the cafeteria. Each cake walk will be a dime.

The carnival will be in the school's gymnasium, with the teachers directing the different booths.

W. G. Edwards will be operating a movie in the first grade room, while Mrs. K. F. Lewis promises a square dance in the cafeteria.

The money made tonight will be used for such school work equipment as maps, dictation records, slides, and other items.

Mrs. Moody Glover, chairman, Miss Edith Farmer, W. G. Edwards, Mrs. Lewis Watson, Mrs. G. R. Strickland, and Mrs. John McKeel make up the committee in charge of the program.
