

THE
HOMES OF TOMORROW
ARE IN THE
HANDS OF THE YOUTH
OF TODAY

For Those Who May Have Wondered

She was wearing her father's hat and shirt, her skirt upside down and tied at her waist with a rope, excess jewelry, high heel shoes and bobby socks. On her face was a coat of cold cream and big red (lipstick) freckles. She was carrying her books and a shoe shine kit in a brown tow sack, and on her back was a 2' X 2' sign that read "I shine shoes for any price."

To anyone who saw a girl fitting the above description on Tuesday, October 2, please let me explain. She wasn't crazy--she was merely being initiated into the FHA. And after that day she really deserves her membership!

That was one day when all we upper-classmen really wore clean shoes. Thanks girls! All those cheap shines were welcomed.

But we wonder--what happened to those ideas about polishing socks. And did any of you collect that chewing gum that you were planning to charge for shoe shines because that wouldn't have to be turned over to the treasurer?

Congratulations, girls! It's all over now and all of you proved to be wonder-

GIRLS VISIT FAIR

State Fair, "high-lite of FHA activities," was attended by 45 Bailey girls last Friday.

Because of the delayed request for a bus for transportation to the fair, the chapter had to charter one with a capacity of only 45.

Since this bus would accommodate only part of the girls, the first 45 paying their fee were able to go.

The bus left the school at 9:00 o'clock Friday morning and returned around 10:00 o'clock that night.

ful sports.

Here's hoping that FHA will be an inspiration to you and that you will respect its purposes and ideals and learn to love it as you go through high school. Barbara Boykin

Chapter Installs New Members

Thirty freshmen girls became official FHA members at an installation service this month.

As opening ritual, the girls quoted the FHA purposes. This was followed by JO ELLEN FINCH'S reading the devotion

Each girl was then called to the front of the auditorium where she received a red rose, the organization flower, and a lighted candle.

Back at their seats, the new members recited the creed, and heard SUE WEAVER discuss "What FHA Should Mean To You."

For The Latest "Scoop"
On What's New
In Fall Hair Styles Trends

VISIT

Lillian's Beauty Shop

Bailey, North Carolina

Phone 306-1