

FTA's Begin Meeting Specified Requirements

Putting their ideals and principles to work, the Future Teachers have started observing and practicing in the grammar grades.

One member, LOUISE WELLS, substituted for her music teacher while the latter was sick. Louise plans to continue helping her instructor on Saturdays.

The L. S. Inscoe club, named for the county superintendent, officially became a member of the national FTA organization when its charter was presented at chapel last week with Superintendent Inscoe and Mrs. Mildred D. Hinton, elementary school supervisor, participating. New club members were also presented during the program.

TEACHERS GAIN IDEAS FOR CLASSROOM USE

Acquiring new ideas and classroom materials was one of the assets gained by the Bailey faculty's going to the NCLA meeting in Raleigh this month, so many of them point out.

Coach Woody Westall was again voted president of the health and physical education group. For his program at the meeting he used 4th and 5th grade students of Bailey School to demonstrate what can be done in athletics.

Most of the teachers believe that the school had a larger representation of faculty members and parents than in previous years.

Janitors Keep School Clean

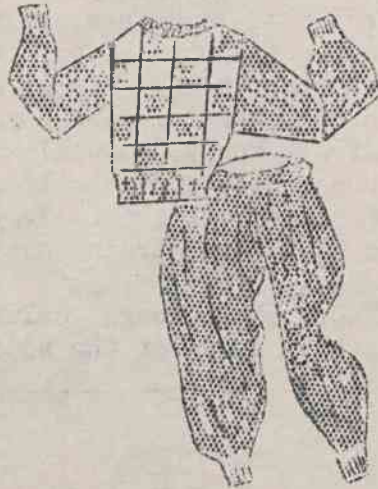

Bailey High School gives credit for the clean yards and buildings to her new janitors, Johnny Kent and Edith Mae Reid.

Teachers and students agree that the yards and buildings are kept clean through the effort of the janitors and the cooperation of the students.

Principal M. W. Weaver is hoping that Bailey School will be one of the cleanest.
