

Sophs Present Panel; Freshmen Stage Play

"Teen-age Roundup," a teen-age program in the form of a panel discussion, was featured by W. H. Westall's sophomores in chapel this month.

TILLIE TAYLOR was in charge of the devotion, after which the group sang "For The Beauty of The Earth" and "The Doxology".

GWEN BURGESS served as master of ceremonies and JASPER HORTON as commercial announcer.

Acting as emcees were BETH HARRIS and CELIA MAY, who introduced the records and asked the panel members opinions on them.

The panel was composed of BOBBIE BATTS, RICHARD PRIVETTE, seniors; SARA PEFLE, ADRIAN MITCHELL, juniors;

KAYE WIGGS, J. W. BISSETTE, sophomores; JANET WEAVER, TONY MORGAN, freshmen; and Miss Idalia Oglesby and W. G. Edwards, teachers.

PLAY

Mrs. Dean Whicker's freshmen dramatized a play and sang songs for their chapel program.

BARBARA FULGHUM was the devotional leader. The class ended its devotion by singing "The Old North State" and "Carolina Moon."

CONNIE LAMM displayed her talent by playing a piano solo, "Walk Hand In Hand".

"Quarie Medicine", a play written by the Carolina Playmakers, was then presented. Characterizing the different parts were JOAN STONE, as Mattie; DONNIE HARRIS, old man Jernigan; WOODY PERRY, Doctory Immanucl; TONY MORGAN, Henry Jernigan, and PEGGY EATON, narrator.
