

Ex-Student Wins Place In Who's Who

MARY ANN EDWARDS, '53 graduate and now a senior at Atlantic Christian College, has been nominated for membership in WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES.

Campus nominating committees are asked to consider scholarship, cooperation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship and service to the school, and promise of future usefulness to society before making their recommendations.

ACTIVITIES

Mary Ann's name, along with 10 other ACC seniors, will appear in the 1956-57 edition of the collegiate WHO'S WHO book. This book lists students receiving the honor in approximately 650 universities and colleges.

Mary Ann is majoring in physical education and has headed or served as an officer in many of the college clubs and activities.

Another Bailey student, JAN PERRY, a graduate of '53, received an identical honor as a freshman at Western Carolina College.

School Confers Annual Awards At Commencement

Each year Bailey High School offers to its students several awards, given either for an outstanding accomplishment or for leadership in one of many fields.

These awards, presented at the close of every school year, include a scholastic award, sportsmanship awards, best all-round awards, valedictorian and salutatorian honors for the seniors; the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow award, and the bus driver award.

CITIZENSHIP AWARD

Presented to the student who best fulfills his duties as a "good" citizen is the citizenship medal, accepted by the school as the "highest" award one can receive.

Added this year to the list of awards are two for American History.

At the end of the year all of the high school teachers meet to determine the recipients of the awards.

FTA Members Discuss "What Is A Teacher?"

At the December meeting of the Future Teachers Club, five members and one teacher took part in a panel discussion on "What Is a Teacher?"

The panel was composed of Sue Weaver, moderator; Lane Farmer, senior; Almeta Brown, junior; Celia May, sophomore; Janet Weaver, freshman; and Miss Edith Farmer, teacher.

Members from the eighth grade who were considering entering the teaching profession were invited to attend the meeting. They were given a chance to ask questions or take part in the discussion.
