

Enrollment Drops For Second Semester

As the first semester of school ended, ten students had been subtracted from the 220 enrolled at Bailey School, leaving a total enrollment of 210 in high school.

Of the ten students lost, six are still attending school at other towns; three have stopped school; and one has married.

Those moving to other schools are Betty Jean Brantley, senior, attending Middlesex; J. R. Bissette, junior, Zebulon; Dallas Glover, junior, Benvenue; George and Mac Lewis, sophomore and freshman, Four Oaks High School; and Betty Medlin, freshman, Nashville.

SENIORS PROMOTE SANDING OF STAGE FLOOR

Through the influence of the senior class and its sponsor, Mrs. L. T. Lassiter, the county agreed to sand, varnish, and polish the stage floor, since the group is planning to leave a cyclorama for the stage as a memorial gift.

It was the belief of the class and the county that by finishing the floor the cyclorama would be kept cleaner, have a longer life, and the cleaning would encourage the students "to take better care of the curtain."

G. L. Bissette, sophomore, and Allie Hugh Johnson, freshman, have stopped school. Jean Brantley has married.

Entire School To Use PTA Purchased Maps

"All over the school," replied M. W. Weaver, principal, in answer to the question, "Where will the new maps be used?"

Adhering to the proposal of the PTA Finance Committee that the funds raised at the annual Halloween Carnival be used to purchase needed school room equipment, teachers first asked for maps.

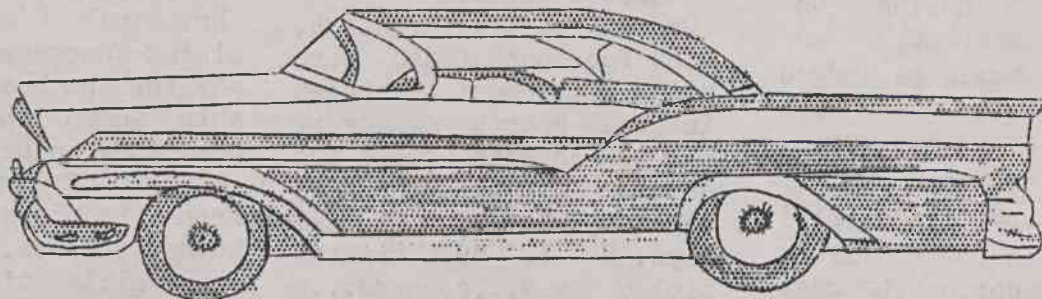

Other school materials will be added to the list to be ordered soon. These items, however, have not yet been decided upon.

Principal Weaver said the maps were to be used to provide a more modern means of teaching.
