

The School's Best To You.

Bailey High School will miss the generosity, friendliness, and guidance of three resigning teachers during the second semester.

Directing the beginners, the grammar grade graduates, and the sports through high school, these teachers played an important part in the preparation of children for their step into the future. Each has proved equally wonderful in his field, and to you is extended thanks for the work done and wishes for good luck and happiness in whatever profession you choose to follow.

Thanks For A Job Well Done

Congratulations to the students of Bailey High and the merchants of Bailey on the Christmas Parade. It was a big success and viewers declared it "excellent".

Bailey merchants were unusually generous in sponsoring this parade. The senior class exhibited its first float and it proved to be a wonderful display of their talent and ability. Needless to say, if there is a parade next year, it will be even bigger and better than this one.

A great deal of appreciation should be shown to the many students, faculty members, organizations from other schools, and citizens of this community for the part they played in it.

Welcome To New Students And Returnees

To all the students who have entered Bailey High from another school, we extend a hearty welcome. Bailey stands to profit from the ideas and ideals you uphold; in return, we trust you gain in like manner from the principles of this school. Bailey High hopes that your stay will be as pleasant as at a previous school.

BAILEY BUGLE

Volume 5

Bailey, N. C., January, 1957

Published Monthly By

Journalism Class; Commercial Department

10¢ per copy

Editor--Peggy Braswell

Staff: Barbara Boykin, Charles Williams, Beth Harris, Keith Glover, Jasper Horton, Kaye Wiggs, Numa Finch, Mac Bowen, Sue Weaver, Alice Issette, Jewel Whitley, Richard Privette, Ray Brantley, Craven Gay, Christy Finch, Sue Bissette, Celia May, Sonja Manning, Jo Ellen Finch, Mary Ella Glover

Advisers--Mrs. A. H. Farmer

Mrs. L. T. Lassiter

Modern Loot Found In Unmodern Bags

Bulging, crammed, packed tight, the cute clutch bags that are so popular with BHS girls certainly do not meet today's modern trend of being trim and slim.

Nine and one-half inches long, four and one-half inches in depth; three inches wide--these are the dimensions of the frequently seen small clutch bags.

Small! I didn't really mean small. Judging by what they contain the name "suitcase" would be more appropriate.

Packed in these small bags--excuse, me--suitcase--may be any number of these items: billfold, tube of lipstick, compact, chapstick, memo pad, pencils, ball-point pen, fountain pen, hair pens, comb, mirror, kleenex, gloves, ear bobs, miniature calendar, nail file, emery boards, broken jewelry, silk scarf, cuff links, aspirin, and small hair brush. Even a road map was found in one bag.

Here is a list actually found in one student's bag, rather "carry all": A compact, tube of lipstick, calendar, two letters, box of aspirin, comb, billfold, loose change, several kleenex, colorscope, ball-point pen, hair clips, hearts from friendship ring, list of basketball cheers, and one pencil.

Now you see why they really need to be clutched at all times and why the name small is really not appropriate. Alice Ruth Issette