

Schools Obtain New English Lit. Readers

After nine years, new editions have replaced old literature books in Nash County Schools.

The following students were asked how they liked the new literature books. "I like them, they are a big change from the old ones," replied Andra Cozart. "They have more pictures and up-to-date information, They also keep you interested" answered Barbara Carroll. When asked how she liked them, Beth Harris said, "I enjoy the poetry and essays. The pictures make it more interesting." Judy Smith agreed, "I like the stories and poetry. It's the best literature book we've had so far."

These books were financed by a portion of students' book rental fee.

P.T.A. Goes Forward

"This has been a progressive and interesting year for the PTA through money making projects and inspiring programs," confirms Miss Ida Parker, Secretary.

A Halloween party promoted by the ways and means committee was the money making project adopted by the association this year. As a result, the PTA was able to allot $150 for reading aids in the elementary school, $150 for fifteen suits for the girls' basketball team, $50 for incidentals and the setting in addition a find to purchase a new activity bus was begun.

Programs have included Rev. Dr. Alan Shaw from A. C. College, speaker at the September meeting, whose topic was mental illness. In October Mrs. Arthur Howard Farmer, teacher in the Bailey School since 1930, was guest of honor of the PTA in "This Is Your Life", the information and participants for which were gathered by Miss Edith Farmer. Open House was held in November. The program, "Let's Get Acquainted", enabled parents and friends to see our school "at work and at play." Attention was called to Alaska, our forty-ninth state, at the February meeting. Mr. C. H. Fries, Jr., Assistant Superintendent of Schools, spoke on "Modern Trends in Education" at the March meeting. Monthly room count has been won by the following rooms: Mrs. Meacones, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Glover, Miss Bissette, Mrs. Browning, Miss Oglesby, and Miss Farmer, the latter having won it five times.

SELLING ICE CREAM

Profits from selling ice cream for January, February, and March, according to Mrs. Brock, school secretary, were $273.79.

"Moving the ice cream box from the lunchroom to the bookroom downstairs because of a Federal law has increased the sale of ice cream tremendously", states M. W. Weaver, principal.

In charge of selling ice cream from 12:00 to 12:25 are Barbara Carroll and Mrs. Marshall Brock. Any teacher who wishes to purchase ice cream for her students during the afternoon recess may do so, at which time she is in charge.

Bailey High School is not an advertiser but it proudly boasts that its twenty-one teachers have a combined total of 354 years of teaching experience.
