

SENIORS PRESENT "PAPA WAS A PREACHER"

Those who were in the audience on October 21, 1960, witnessed what has been described as Bailey's wittiest, most clever senior play in years, "PAPA WAS A PREACHER."

Bill Boykin performed the role of Edwin Porter, the tall, forthright "Papa" of the play; Betty Beard acted the part of "Mother" a charming woman in her forties. Hugh, the eldest of the Porter children was played by Eddie Creech. Cecil Porter, the dancer of the family was hilariously portrayed by Lewis Wester; while Raybon, lover boy of the family, was enacted by Max Lucas. Ann Brock played the part of Janette Porter, an attractive girl in her mid-teens. Ed, the photographer of the Porter family was acted by Harold Patterson. Barbara Sue Lamm cleverly portrayed Alyene Porter, the wan, but energetic authority on Shakespeare. Andra Cozart played the part of Miss Jonas, tall, spare, busy-body. Phyllis Manning, Helen Ludlow, a charming coquette; Alton Manning, Jeffrey Cole, a young friend of the family. Ruth Gayle Mitchell and Vickie Jo Meacomes played Lucy and Jenny, the Smith sisters who wanted a boyfriend desperately. Sarah Privette acted as a weepy bride while Dick Finch was her flashy groom.

The play took place in a parsonage living room. It involved the problems encountered by a preacher's family, and the lively situations which followed because "PAPA WAS A PREACHER."

The play was directed by Mrs. A. H. Farmer.

SENIORS PRESENT GIFT TO SCHOOL

On Monday morning, January 16, the faculty and students met in the auditorium for the presentation of the Seniors' gift to the school.

Their gift, which was wall clocks for each classroom, were presented by individual Seniors who were sitting on the stage. As the Senior class president, Kay Thompson, called each teachers name, he or she came on stage to receive their clock.

After the presentation, Miss Edith Farmer responded with thanks on behalf of the entire school.

SENIOR WINS SCOUTING AWARD

On the evening of February 17, 1961, Bill Boykin walked hurriedly and happily down the aisle of the Bailey School cafeteria to receive an award that only three others in this scouting district have ever received. It is

JUNIORS-SENIORS SEE "LOOK HOMEWARD ANGEL"

On Monday night, February 6, 1961, several juniors and seniors went to the Raleigh Little Theatre to see "Look Homeward Angel." The play started at 8:01 and was over at 10:30. The group was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Kern Ormond and Miss Idalia Oglesby.

"Look Homeward Angel" was written by Thomas Wolfe. The play took place in a small boarding house in the South. It has been described as a drama with a few laughs. It was a very good play and was enjoyed by everyone that attended.

After the play, the group went to the Piggy Park for a light snack before going home.

FORMER STUDENT-SCHOOL SECRETARY

Former B.H.S. graduate, JOAN STONE, is now serving as school secretary. Joan replaced Mrs. J. Marshal Brock Jr., who resigned earlier in the year.

By having a secretary to aid him in the office, Mr. Weaver has more time to supervise instruction in the school.

Joan lives with her mother, Mrs. Dottie Stone, near Middlesex.

Joan says "I have thoroughly enjoyed my year's work. It is an experience I'll always treasure and remember. The teachers have all been co-operative and helpful.

The birds are your friends. When the worms get in your garden the birds get them out. The birds like worms.
