

Prosperity Is Evident In School's New Bank

Depositors Include Ten Students, Three Teachers, School and Club Treasurers

Ten GHS students and three teachers have personal deposits in the Bank of the Goldsboro High School, which is handling all the financial affairs of the high school.

Student accounts on November 6 totaled $31.67 with individual savings ranging from 25 cents to $10. Three teachers—Miss Langston, J. N. Jeffrey and B. P. Johnson—have deposits totaling $12.40.

Student depositors are: James Denning, Robert Bartholomew, Randolph Middleton, Floyd McDowell, Billy Shepard, John Smith, Leroy Walton, Richard Whitfield, Cecil Willis and Frances Styron.

Other accounts are: The Athletic Association, the Hi News, the Hi News Shop, and all school clubs and classes having dues.

The bank is a project of the book-keeping department to give students actual practice in handling money. Regular banking procedure is followed, students taking turns as cashiers, treasurers and bookkeepers. All checks are signed by Mr. Davis, who supervises the work.

The financial statement of the bank on November 1 appears in the middle column of this page.

Those working in the bank are Ben Whitley, Floyd McDowell, Willis Casey, Elvin Scholar, Billy Shepard, David Langston, Elizabeth Bass, Lillian Pate, Hattie Smith, Adell Beamon, Annie Bell Moore.

The banking hours are from 10:15 to 11:30 each morning and from 3:30 to 4 each afternoon.

That's The Limit!

"Won't you give a shilling to the Lord?" asked a Salvation Army lassie of a Scotchman.

"How old are ye, lassie?" he asked.

"Nineteen, sir."

"Oh, well then, I'm past seventy-five. I'll be seeing Him myself before ye, so I'll hand it to Him myself."

A home room of Height's High School of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, has a joint account in their school bank of $175.

116 Students Studying Shorthand This Year

If the 116 GHS shorthand students accomplish their aims this year, they will be well prepared to accept stenographic positions in the business world.

The goal of the 92 first year students, instructed by Miss Ezzell and Mr. Davis, is to take from dictation 60 words a minute. Also they're striving for 90 per cent accuracy in transcribing it, that is to hand in typewritten dictation with a ninety per cent accuracy.

No student is allowed to take shorthand without typing.

Several of last year's students now have jobs and a few of this year's students already have prospects.

Typewriting Classes Include 129 Students

Machines Busy All Day; Students Plan to Again Capture State Typing Awards

With 129 students enrolled this year, the six typing classes have started their work with real earnestness.

Three first-year typing classes together with second-year classes during the second period, the activity period and even after school hours keep Miss Lutes busy.

Plans for both class and state contests are being made, the goal being to uphold last year's record in the state contest from which two students brought back loving cups to GHS. Frances Satterfield, '37, won first place award in the Typing II class with a speed of 60 words per minute, and in the Typing I class Lee Ann Taylor, '36, won first place with 52 words per minute.

Rivalry in the first-year classes is being promoted, by dividing each class into two teams with the losing team paying a forfeit at the end of every six-week period.

The goal set for the second-year classes is a speed of 60 words per minute. Ruth Dillworth holds the record of 57 words already.

New Course Added in Business Department

Other examples of the progressive business course in Goldsboro High School are the two new business English classes in which 83 members are enrolled supervised by Mrs. White and Miss Mewborn.

General behavior of office workers has been the chief topic of discussion in the two classes. Improvement of speech and manners has been stressed. Careful and correct writing of all kinds of business letters are being taught. Neatness and exact work are insisted upon.

The course was added this year to enable students to deal easily and efficiently with people as well as handle the routine of office work.

Business Math Enrolls 129

A very popular course in the commercial department is Business Arithmetic taught by Mrs. Cox and Mr. Jeffrey. This course not only helps its 129 students in their business work but it also prepares them to run their homes well financially and to keep their budgets balanced.

Washingtonian: Oh, yes, they often launder the soiled bills at the treasury.

Dumb Bunny: Will you please show me where they hang them out to dry?

Undertaker: Are you one of the mourners?

Mike: Shure, the corpse owed me ten dollars.
