GOLDSBORO, N. C., MARCH 19, 1937

50 CENTS A YEAR

1937 Brings Back Honorary Society To GHS Students

SEVEN SENIORS INITIATED

Scholarship, Leadership, Character and Service Are Requirements
For Selection

Seven seniors—Mary Baddour, Rosanna Barnes, William Dees, Marshall McDowell, Everette Proud, Jane Smith and Ozello Woodward—were yesterday initiated with impressive ceremony into the National Honor Society.

Further evidence of what it means to be on the Class A list is the restoration of the National Honor Society in GHS. At the time the Hi News went to press plans were being made to tap a number of seniors yesterday at assembly. The last induction was in 1935.

For a student to be considered he must have the qualities of service, leadership, character, and scholarship. According to the N.H.S. handbook for a student to be considered as having service he must have a willingness to render cheerfully and enthusiastically any service to the school whenever called upon, a willingness to do thoroughly any assigned service in school procedure; a readiness to show courtesy to visitors by acting as a guide, to sell tickets, to look after concessions, to act as a big brother or sister or underclassmen, or to assist students behind in their work; a willingness to uphold scholarship and maintain a loyal school attitude; a willingness to render any other worth-while service to the school or community.

To be considered as having leadership he must have a degree of initiative. (Please turn to page six)

GHS College Freshmen Make Good Records

Contrary to the ideas of students who seem to think that ignoring the more difficult studies makes no difference are the mid-term grades of the college freshmen who graduated from GHS.

From the total amount of all work taken by the total number of GHS freshmen in college, 92.5 per cent are passing, and 7.5 per cent are failing.

Of the students who were recommended by GHS officials, 12.2 per cent made A's; 28.6 per cent, B's; 36.1 per cent C's; 15.1 per cent D's and 1 per cent incomplete.

One year of journalism is equal to an extra course in English. Of the students from the class of '36 who had journalism in GHS none were failures, four made A's, four B's, and one made D.

Three made A's, one made a B and another a C on mathematics from the number who had advanced math here.

There were no failures in science by college freshmen of GHS who had completed three years in high school.

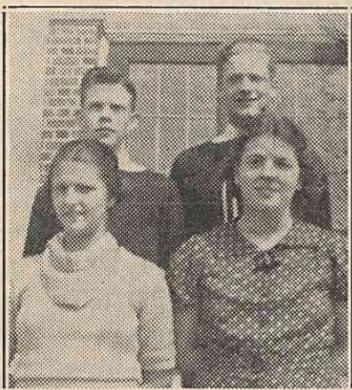

Of all the grades made, the highest were on mathematics and science with English ranking third.

Types Catalogue Cards

Coleen McClenny, '37, has spent many hours typing the cards for the card catalogue cabinet with the P.-T.A. donated to the library last September.

Through her work students will be able to use the cabinet in the near future.

GHS Portrays Aycok In State-wide Pageant

From five to seven thousand students over North Carolina, from the first grade through college, are preparing to present their part of the North Carolina Public Education Centennial to be held in Durham on April 23, in the Duke stadium.

The Centennial is divided into different episodes of the education of North Carolina, with each school entered taking part. Goldsboro will enact one of Governor Charles B. Aycok's pleas for public education in North Carolina and "The Turning Point of Education in North Carolina."

Sixty-five students in Goldsboro will take part in the pageant. Everette Proud will play the part of a well-to-do citizen arguing with a farmer who is against education, taken by James Zealy. The leading part, that of Charles B. Aycok, has not been decided upon. Randolph Middleton is taking the part of Dr. J. Y. Joyner.

Miss Sarah Chaffin was to direct Goldsboro's part but due to her illness, Miss Margaret Kornegay is directing it.

Only 3 of 801 Students Are Without T.B. Test

From a student population of 801 GHS is proud to say that only three of its members are still without the tuberculosis test.

In the recent test about 65 received the tuberculosis treatment. Though not unanimous as we hoped for, this step put Goldsboro far along the road toward the prevention of a disastrous epidemic.

Dr. McPheeters is grateful for the student cooperation during the tests.

Hoboes Convene In Gym Tonight

Seniors Reserve Camping Grounds and Offer Entertainment
From 8 'Til?

The Seniors! "Hobo Convention" will be in full swing tonight. Tramps galore will adorn the gym. Bums will reign over all. It's Hobo Day for everybody.

Side shows, night clubs, and floor shows will be there to entertain you. Tin cans will welcome you. Barkers will bid you in at every turn. Dancing, singing, and music galore—"Ladeez and gentlemen, right over here, "The Seven Wonders of the World, the on—ly one! She's alive, the woman with three heads! Walk right in Ladeez and gentlemen!"

"Right over here, Parisian Night Club! See Paris at night. Now, let's leave Parea and go to the Beer Gardens of Vienna. The Singing Quartette, the Dancing German Girl, everything you want."

So grab a frail, my fellow bums, and meet us at the gym tonight at eight o'clock prepared to camp from eight 'til ? among the other tin cans.

Triangular Debates Will be Held April 2

Dorothy Parker and Marshall McDowell, negative, and Irene Mitcham and Rosanna Barnes, affirmative, will represent GHS in Kinston and Wilmington in the triangular debate on April 2.

They will argue the query Resolved, "That all Electric Light and Power Utilities should be governmentally Owned and Operated." The question comes under the World Problem—Private Ownership versus Public Ownership.

The debaters are studying in the double period history and English classes. Because they were interested in debating, and because Miss Beasley, who is coaching them did not have outside time to help others, debating was limited to these four.

JUNIOR FORUM TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Goldsboro's Junior Forum will be initiated next week under the direction of Mr. John Barclay, forum director.

Goldsboro was one of the four schools in the Seven-County Forum to ask for the junior type of forum.

Seven-County Forum speakers to talk in the near future are: Mrs. Laura W. McMullen, David M. Trout, Charles N. Barrows, Emil Lengyel, Joseph S. Kornfeld and S. J. Hocking.

DOWN the HALLS

Glances and Comments

Check-up: a last minute check-up showed that Bobby Hatch, '37, and Berta Parks, '39, were not included on the term honor roll published in the February 26 issue of the Hi News.

Honored: Betsy Parks, '36, was recently elected President of the Student Government Organization at Anderson College, where she is a Freshman. She will take over the office next fall.

Initiative: Grass covered the field near the baseball diamond. Balls could not be found when knocked in it. So the baseball squad got to work and burned the field off.

They Can't Understand: During the recent Concert Programs, which were held in our auditorium, visitors from Kinston, Smithfield, Raleigh and other near-by cities couldn't understand how we keep our building so clean. "Cooperation, that's how we do it," stated one student. "We have respect for our building," said another.

Act Three: The cast of "Life Begins at 16," the Junior Play, is rehearsing act three.

Association in 1st Election Chooses Dees For Leader

REPORT OF THE FIRST BOARD OF ELECTIONS

Because they were setting a precedent in the way voting is to be carried on in Student Association elections, the Board of Elections have had a big job on their hands for the past three weeks.

The work of the Board at the time the Hi News went to press was submitted by the chairman, Everette Proud, as follows:

(1) Set the dates for Nomination Week, campaign speeches and voting within the 10-day limit provided by the constitution.

(2) Established Room 20 (adviser's home room) to accept nominations and answer questions which arose.

(3) Established the place and manner of election. (Board suggests two polls at the next election.)

(4) Kept nominees posted on all home room bulletin boards.

(5) Kept Council and assembly notified of the actions and work of the Board.

(6) Had members on Board who were nominated for offices dropped from Board.

(7) Met every afternoon to take care of nominations made during the day and other business.

(8) Called meeting of candidates and managers to arrange assembly program of campaign speeches.

(9) Had ballots printed with clear directions.

(10) Registered every one in school in registration books.

(11) Appointed one or more members of each class to hold polls.

(12) Counted votes and provided for second election.

(13) Interviewed Mr. Scott B. Berkley, local lawyer, as to the correct way to proceed about holding a third election.

The Board of Elections, '37: Everette Proud, chairman, Sam Teague, Ted Burwell, Charles Liles, Ray Rouse, Mrs. Middleton, faculty adviser.

School Saved Large Sums By Seven GHS Printers

Through the work of seven boys in the print shop and Mr. Johnson, the Goldsboro Public Schools are saved much money annually.

Since the printing equipment was installed in 1934, the shop has done all the work of the Goldsboro schools, both white and colored.

Among the things printed in the shop are posters for the Seven County Forum and all report cards for the Goldsboro schools. In the near future calling cards, monogram certificates, commencement programs and Junior Play tickets will be made.

In addition to these the handbook for incoming Freshmen, which will be compiled by the Student Association council, will be printed.

Each printer is keeping a scrapbook of the work done in the print shop. The printers are Joe Pearson, Morris Warrick, Earl Hollowell, Richard Reeves, Floyd Huffman, Rae Johnson and William Powell.

REVOTE HELD FOR 2 OFFICES

Marshall McDowell, Olivia Ferguson and Rosanna Barnes Are Other Executives

With the initiation of student participation in GHS William Dees has been elected president to lead the Student Association on the right path through the remainder of the current year.

The under-officers named to serve were Marshall McDowell, vice president; Rosanna Barnes, recording secretary; and Olivia Ferguson, corresponding secretary.

Voting polls were open in the lobby of the auditorium at both lunch periods and after school on March 11. The votes were counted that afternoon, and it was found that a second election would have to be held for corresponding secretary and treasurer, as no one received a simple majority.

On March 12 a second election was held during home room period with the corresponding secretary being decided, but again no one running for treasurer received a simple majority. At the time the Hi News went to press the date for the third election had not been decided upon.

The Board of Elections decided not to use the Australian ballot system, which requires one to register before voting. Instead they registered every one in school and conducted the election without secret ballots. A Board member remarked that this method saved time and that in years to come the incoming Freshman Class would be the only ones to register.

The week of March 1-5 was "nomination week," during which the students could add nominations to those already made by the nominating committee. Those nominated by the committee were: President, William Dees; vice president, James Heyward; recording secretary, Harriet Noell; corresponding secretary, (Please turn to page five)

SCHOOL BOARD LOSES MR. GEORGE S. DEWEY

The School Board has lost an interested, serviceable member through the resignation of Mr. George S. Dewey.

Probably the most outstanding work of Mr. Dewey was his service as chairman of the Building Committee for the Goldsboro High School Building. At the time Mr. Dewey was the one man on the Board who knew construction and architecture.

In 1932, when the auditorium was completed, the Board of Trustees paid Mr. Dewey the following tribute which was recorded in their minutes:

Be it resolved: That the Board of Trustees of the Goldsboro Schools express its sincere approval of the faithful, conscientious, intelligent work of the chairman of the Building Committee, George S. Dewey, in the erection of the new high school.

Until he became ill, Mr. Dewey served as chairman of the Board. He kept in touch with every part of the school work. Even the committees that he did not serve on he kept in touch with.

"Mr. Dewey has as much interest in the work of the school as he does in his personal affairs, sometimes more," stated Colonel John D. Langston. "Even when he was ill, he kept up with the Board work."
