

"Ladies And Gentlemen, We Present—Some Juniors"

Dee Wood Vinson would quit school if he were suddenly given a million dollars. Doris Wellons reminds herself of Zazu Pitts. If James Denning were given the power to perform a miracle, he would lift the world on his back and make it move faster.

I asked this question of Jack Wharton: "Do you dance? truck?" He answered seriously—"Yes, I dance, but my name isn't Truck!" Opal Nickens had rather dance than do anything else.

William Hardison wants to send cushions to the sit-down strikers. If Hazel Etheridge could perform a miracle she would demand 5 days for spring holidays. Franklin Earl Wynn is called "Frank" for short and "Red" for shorter.

Lorena Wellons always suggests parking. Letha Mae Talton, when asked "which she had rather do," answered "Nothing."

Martha Jane Bass wants to make herself beautiful. Harriet Noell's ambitions are to be a stenographer and to meet Guy Lombardo. Hardy Lee Thompson wants Anita Louise to play the part of "Scarlet" in "Gone with the Wind." Margaret Peacock would love to attend Greensboro College if they serve fried potatoes and ice cream.

Emmett Futrelle's nickname is "Grandpa." Lucille Whitley doesn't mind driving and she doesn't mind parking. Annie Nunn could "kick the bucket" with a million dollars.

Ben Carr's ideal girl is a small brunette with blue eyes and dark complexion. That's a coincidence—because Mary Bass' ideal boy is short, has blond hair and blue eyes and is a gentleman. Kathryn Seymour wants to be an embalmer. Troy Hook's favorite color is "neutral."

Archie Wooten's hobby is collecting money. Arthur Stafford's ambition is to be a professional baseball player. Warren Austin prefers driving to parking.

Elizabeth Smith's hobby is collecting tie-pins. Margaret Howell's ambition is to go to college and to get married. Ercell Adams' favorite subject is English. Rudolph Pate reminds himself of Fred Astaire.

Joe Edwards wants to attend State College and learn to be a hotel manager. Connor Fanelty likes any color except "red." Lambert Jernigan's hobby is collecting guns. Walter Paschall prefers blondes with red hair.

Richard Whitfield likes Eleanor Powell, grocery stores, bookkeeping, blue, and parking. Joe Pearson thinks he's like Shirley Temple. Louise Palmer Sineath had rather dance to Shep's orchestra.

Scottie Dameron's favorite subject is "Scottie"—and she enjoys collecting choc-cow sticks. James Crone prefers sitting in the back seat!

Ethel Faucette wants to be a nurse and lead a band. If Mildred Cartwright were given a million dollars she would buy a piano, saxophone, car and hot dog stand. Bettie Gray Best wants to be a writer. Lillie Mae Jones hopes to be a stenographer some day.

Mary Wallace's ambitions are to be pretty and to learn to dance. When Helen Hood gets so she can't pass anything, she's going to declare a 12 month holiday every year! If Ray Gardner could perform a miracle, he'd graduate. June Hardison hopes to be a doctor.

Marion Brown says if he had a million dollars he would buy a million dollar baby. Ruth Shepard wants someone to help her get rid of her freckles.

Thomas Stilh thinks he looks like Clark Gable. Charles Smith has no ambition. Annabelle Moore wants a boy friend with high ambitions and a kind heart.

James Crocker would like to play in an orchestra. Sarah Cox had rather play while she plays, work while she works but have a glorious time all the time. Esther Mae Corbett wants to get out on her own.

Blanche Stroud wants to be a beauty operator. Billy Mooring could do everything he ever dreamed of with a modernly equipped laboratory. He really thinks he could improve the world with medicine and psychology. Willie Boykin could easily spend his life looking like Buck Jones and eating pineapple pie.

Cleo Thompson thinks it would be a miracle to make a certain boy love her. Elizabeth Gwaltney's ambition is to be charming and look like Zazu Pitts. Hazlett Long is going to be a doctor and invent a way to die and come back to life. Since this is Floyd Huffman's 12th year of school, he isn't planning to take the 12th year course to be offered next year.

Bruce Herring's desire is to take Hazel away from Ralph. Terry Pollock knows he could pass as Harold Lloyd's double. Doris Rose longs to live in the country and own a cow.

Laura Helms wants to make all GHS boys handsome. Please, don't anyone give Emma Cole a million dollars—she says her heart would stop completely. Lois McCormick's hobby is eating between meals.

Edward Luke thinks Simone Simon would make a good Southerner for "Gone With the Wind." Nancy Barden doesn't know who Santa Claus is! Floyd Wells likes to park.

Milford Ginn says the first thing he'd do if given a million dollars would be to count it. Sally Hinant wants to become Bing Crosby's wife. Louise Harrington wouldn't mind going to Hollywood just to meet Robert Taylor.

Carter Glascox could visit King Edward (?) with a million dollars. Marjorie Wiggins desires to be a rich man's wife. Lyda Blalock is going to be a dietitian and feed everyone macaroni, cheese and ice cream.

Annette Rackley has no ambition. She'd like to recline on a divan and eat beef and drink milk shakes. Frank Hauser loves to park in the moonlight and make love to a certain girl. Luna Williams' favorite subject is typing.

Wyche Ray's ambition is to pass every subject with a I+ and never study. Earl Whitley's ambition is to travel to all parts of the world. Carrie Smith had rather listen to the good music at these popular filling stations.

Lydia O'Briant's ideal orchestra leader is Ozzie Nelson. She likes typing, brunettes, hiking and parking. Rachel Edgerton's favorite food is banana splits, though she prefers reading and shorthand above all. Jip Manly thinks he's most like "Buckwheat" in Our Gang.

Winifred Lancaster's nickname is "Wimpy"—but his favorite food is apple pie. Earl Padgett is going to be a bookkeeper and hire a brunette secretary. Mildred Rayner says Mr. Johnson is Santa Claus. Elvin Sholar's favorite orchestra is Leopold Stokowski's. Doris Peele wants to start something new and be a lawyer. Hazel Ham's hobby is working. Douglas McDonald thinks the High School Orchestra is tops.

William Norris wants to be a railroad man so he can experience riding a train. Olivia Cox likes brunettes because she's one. Frances Coward's favorite subject is Robert Taylor. She'd like to be an actress, dancer and singer.

Norene Johnson hopes to be an opera singer. Doris Blks is all for basketball. She'd rather drive around the circle at the airport than do anything else.

Sadie Adams' hobbies are eating chicken and playing baseball. Nina Medford wants to learn to truck.

Anni Staps can't live without marrying a millionaire. Virginia Summerlin's hobby is watching someone swim. Tilley Horton says she is most like Joan Crawford; but not in looks. She says the resemblance is in temper.

Eunice Collins would like to give sight to the blind. Her hobbies are playing volley ball and dancing. Grace Underwood wants to be an actress like Loretta Young. Richard Ball's ideal girl is like Gracie, with Carolyn's plumpness and Betty's hair.

Robert Thigpen's ambition is to sit in a chair and tell people what to do. Helen Moore reminds herself of Martha Raye.

Ruby Whitley likes to listen to the Hit Parade and dance like Ginger Rogers. Edith Daughtry wants to teach a primary grade.

Ernest Burton would quit school for a million dollars. Elizabeth Griffin's ambition is to be a stenographer and fall for her employer. Jean Brown craves a tall, handsome boy with plenty of money.
