

Hi News Aims Toward 100 Percent Student Subscription Lists

Five Rooms Reach Goal Of Hi News

Five homerooms in Goldsboro High School have subscribed to the Hi News 100 percent, according to figures released this week. Most of the other rooms are expected to be 100 percent within a short time.

Homerooms with 100 percent support to their Hi News are the rooms of Miss Alice Lee Harris, Mrs. D. A. Roebuck, Mrs. J. E. Britt, Mr. Clifton Britton and Mr. E. L. Roberts. Mr. Roberts' room was 100 percent within fifteen minutes after the drive was announced, and the others in the list reached their goal in short order.

Letters have been received from former students, saying they would like to keep up with school affairs through the Hi News, so the staff of the paper has agreed that any room which gets 100 percent support to the publication, may have free to send to service men subscriptions equal to 10 per cent of the room enrollment.

Last year the student body voted to have a 50 cents Student Association fee and make all other student fees voluntary, so that the Hi News this year does not share in any activity ticket as it had formerly done. Those wishing to subscribe to the paper must do so directly at 50 cents per year. The staff hopes to have 100 percent subscription cooperation in the school on the new basis, the circulation announced.

The staff has in mind many improvements for the paper and if these improvements are to be carried out, then it will be necessary for all to back their paper—and it is their paper and not the staff's paper, members of the staff are ready to acknowledge.

The circulation manager urges each home room to renew its efforts to secure 100 percent subscriptions at once. The next issue of the paper will carry a list of the 100 percent rooms, together with the names of the students who have subscribed to the paper from those rooms.

Act now and subscribe to the paper for the whole year so that your staff may make plans for the work for the whole year.

Eight issues of the paper are published during the nine months of the school year, and by full cooperation on the part of the students it probably will be possible next year to have nine issues of the paper, one for each month of the school year.

Bobby Klutz Heads Frosh In High School

Bobby Klutz automatically became president of the freshman class for the year 1945 when he had no opponent for the place.

The other officers are: Ervin Strickland, vice-president; Ruby Forehand, secretary; Joyce Redford, treasurer; Joyce Bagley and Sonny Gainey, cheerleaders.

Members of the nominating committee were: Mary Rachel Johnson, Troy Pate, Billy Winslow, with Mrs. D. A. Roebuck as adviser. The poll holders and registrars were: Jane Brown, Millie Cobb, Henry Edwards, Virginia McFarland, Lillian Overman, and Bryan Sutton.

Nominees on the first ballot were: vice-president, Carolyn Loftin, and Ervin Strickland; secretary, Ruby Forehand and Kitty Keller; treasurer, Ethel Parker and Joyce Redford; cheerleaders, Joyce Bagley, Sonny Gainey, Sonny Godwin, Mike Pate, and Herman Vinson.

FERNS WANTED

Miss Nancy Hinson, librarian, wants any student who can please lend the library several ferns for the winter season. The ferns will be in the best of care, weather permitting.

Parents and Teachers Plan Get-Together

In observance of National Education week, students, parents and teachers of the Goldsboro High School will seek to become better acquainted during the week of November 11-17.

At a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Council at the high school a few days ago plans were made for holding an open house program at the school on November 15, Thursday night of National Education week, at which time parents will be invited to visit the school, meet the teachers, and look over the building and see where their sons and daughters work.

55 Students Study Bible In New Course

Fifty-five students of G. H. S. have elected Bible as one of their studies this year, the first year that Bible has been offered.

These students are divided into two groups.

One group with forty-two students is being taught by Mr. Eugene L. Roberts, and the other group with thirteen students is taught by Father Newman of the Catholic Church.

Mr. Roberts says that he is giving a general survey of Old and New Testament history, with emphasis on reading the Bible.

The course will run throughout the whole year with work in the fall being done in Old Testament and the work in the spring in the New Testament.

In addition to acquainting the students with the Bible itself, Mr. Roberts plans to have the students see the relationship of the various parts of the Bible and to know something of Bible lands and customs.

Delegates Go To Wilmington Meeting

Martha Winslow, president of the Student Association, Oscar Bagley, president of the Junior class, and Susan Jenkins, a junior, accompanied by Miss Miriam Koch as advisor, attended the nineteenth session of the North Carolina State Student Council Congress in Wilmington October eleventh and twelfth.

The trio entered into discussions held on "Student Councils As A Medium for Promoting Citizenship," which was divided into three panels. Martha entered the discussion on "Developing Broad-er Student Participation." Oscar participated in the "Developing Responsibility in School Leaders" discussion, and Susan took part in the discussion on "Developing School Spirit and School Pride Through Preservation of School Property."

Next year the conference will be held in Asheville.

Sophs Take Prizes In Curtis Drive

The sophomores of Goldsboro High School led in the recent Curtis Publications magazine drive with a total of $791.75 of the $1206.50 collected by juniors and sophomores.

Mr. Clifton Britton's homeroom led with $319.50. Josephine Jackson was high salesman and Janie Bartlett was a close runner-up. These two will divide the first prize which was combined with second prize. The sophomore's profit was $310.75.

Charles Ellis, a member of the junior class, won third prize. The junior class collected $414.75.

Miss Janie Ipoek's homeroom led the junior class.

Geraldine Collins, a sophomore, won fourth prize.

Juniors Hear Mrs. F. Jones Devotional

Mrs. Frank Jones spoke to the junior class in their Devotional held October 25.

In her theme, Importance of Bible Study, she gave several helpful points to the students. She stressed the fact that through all these years humanity has never been able to destroy the Bible, which has been the world's best-seller every year.

Carlton Frederick sang, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

Kitzi Bridgers, Ava Crumpler, Sarah Jane Pate, Virginia McFarland, Gaynelle Sauls, and Martha Winslow sang the three verses of, "I Would Be True" during the silent prayer.

Elizabeth Ann Keegan introduced the Devotional Program.

Freshman Week Is Held For Students

Freshman Week was observed in G. H. S. Oct. 1-5.

On Monday there was a program in the auditorium to begin the initiations.

A few of the outstanding highlights of the program are given below:

"Cotton" Klutz was called to the stage, hesitating and trembling with fear, but was very much relieved to find that all that was required of him was to don a baby's outfit, climb into a child's wagon and be pulled around the auditorium by Millie Cobb, shaking a rattler as he went. Afterwards, he was sung to sleep by J. P. Keen, one of the football players.

Ray Bryan showed sportsmanship by doing his level best to sit on a milk bottle without any support.

Misses Elizabeth Grant, Alice Lee Harris, Nancy Hinson, Geraldine Jones, Elsie May, and Mrs. D. A. Roebuck, were also victims. They sang "School Days" under the leadership of Mrs. Roebuck.

During Freshman Week the freshmen had to obey the rules and regulations of a proclamation established by the upperclassmen.

Those participating in the program were: Eloise Balkum, Evelyn Barbee, Betty Bedford, Ned Champion, Geraldine Collins, Charlie Darden, Polly Edgerton, Ruth Edgerton, Mary Olive Grady, Erlene Griffin, Bobby Hill, Josephine Jackson, Henry Modlin, Lillian Overman, Henrietta Parnell, Donald Pike, Zella Potter, Robert Price, John Hart Redfean, D. J. Rose, Ruth Shaver, Bill Taylor, La Verne Tew, Dan Ward, Billy Faye Williams, and Louise York.

Donald Barnes Manages Shop

Donald Barnes is manager of the Hi News shop this year.

The shop is located in the west end of the building on the second floor. It carries a general line of school supplies.

The shop is open each morning fifteen minutes before school.

Donald was approved for the place after having been recommended by last year's business manager, Bill Shrago. Mr. Eugene L. Roberts, Hi News adviser, approved the appointment.

Dramatic Workers Now Making Improvements In The Department

A Sophomore Heads The Hi News Staff

Ten juniors and two sophomores make up the Hi News staff this year.

Marilyn Tolochko, editor, is probably the first sophomore to hold this office in the history of the paper.

Mr. Roberts is the teacher of journalism and adviser for the staff.

The paper plans many improvements for the year.

As you read this issue you will note at least one change which the staff thinks is a definite improvement. Instead of a five-column paper, with columns only 16 inches long, you have a seven column paper with columns 20 inches long.

Readers will note, too, that there are more pictures in this issue than usually appear in the paper, and it is the aim of the staff, they have agreed, to give the students a bigger and better paper during the year.

A new printing contract at more attractive terms enables the staff to contribute to the paper stories, poems, cartoons, or any other matter they would like to submit. The staff will use whatever of this material it can, in keeping with the space at hand and the policy of the paper to best serve the students.

Poems, the editor says, should be okayed by the student's English teacher before being submitted for publication.

Open forum letters can be used if they are signed and are written in the proper spirit; so the staff urges and hopes there will be wide participation in the production of the paper from the student body as a whole and not just the journalism class and staff.

Under the leadership of seven committee members and an adviser, Junior Red Cross in GHS is already at work this year.

The Junior Red Cross has its first meeting with Miss Antoinette Beasley, Junior Red Cross field representative, September 26, at which time she also spoke to the student body. She explained that the greatest purpose of the J.R.C. is to establish world peace and relationship with other countries. She told of many ways in which our school might do this.

Some of the ways are to make games, toys, and handy articles to be used by children as well as grownups. Exchanging scrapbooks is both an exciting and profitable way.

The Junior Red Cross committee consists of Sally Hood, chairman; Nona Best, Joyce Carter, Billy Hilton, Marilyn Jonsson, Nance Potts, Marjorie Wilson; adviser, Miss Koch.

Goldmasquers Plan First Production

"The Lady Who Came to Stay" will be the first Goldmasquers' production for this season, according to an announcement by Mr. Clifton Britton, director. The play will be held December 6th, 7th, and 10th.

The cast is as follows: Katherine, Margie Perry, a concert singer who is forced by illness and poverty to seek refuge with three old-maid sisters of her dead hus-

National Book Week Planned For High School

National Book week will be held November 11-17 in Goldsboro High School.

Three-hundred new books are expected to arrive by that time, and will be on display for the students. There will also be posters and bulletin board displays in honor of National Book Week.

There have also been a few new additions to the library this year. The workshop has made six new flower stands, and additional shelves to hold approximately six hundred books. Helpful reading lists have been ordered for the students, and are expected to arrive very shortly. Miss Nancy Hinson, librarian, is in charge of plans for National Book Week.

Reeves Talks

Mr. R. J. Reeves, manager of the Western Union in Goldsboro, made a talk to Miss Frances Bayne's 2nd period General Business class on the history of telegrams, and the different types of telegrams. The group has previously studied the different types of telegrams.

Do not lay things too much to heart. No man is really beaten unless he is discouraged. — Lord Avebury.

Radio Room Is Prepared In Building

The department of dramatic arts in G. H. S. plans several building improvements during the year.

The radio room is being divided into four parts: the production room, control room, studio, and sound room.

The production room will contain a desk, file, and mahogany furniture with the chairs padded with green leather. The control room was started last summer and already has a console and will have two turntables and a studio-ette which is used for feeding the local station, WGBR. It has the traditional plate glass window to enable the operator and announcer to see the program.

The studio will be equipped with mikes and chairs padded with blue leather. The sound lot is a little room used as a reception for sound. The color scheme of the station has not yet been decided upon, but it will be decorated very modernistically.

Downstairs in the lobby there will be a framed display board covered with velvet between the doors for pictures of productions. On each side of the display board there will be a pedestal and the furniture to be used is maple. The aisles and balcony will be numbered by panels over the doors. The ticket office will be equipped with a mike for announcements.

There will be a few changes and fifteen inch loud speakers for each side of the stage. Under the stage there will be built two dressing rooms on one side, a hall, and a washroom and properties room on the other side.

Magic Show Is Improved By Students

"Bo Bo and his modern miracles of magic" was presented to the student body Tuesday, October 16, at 9 a. m. by the S. A. assembly committee.

He presented a variety of magical illusions including sleight-of-hand tricks, disappearing deceptions, and a number of routine magical stunts.

The audience received his performances with generous applause and peals of laughter as he cracked a number of quips during his continuous patter.

Many of the students have expressed their opinions of the show. Most of them were favorable. "... the best I've seen," "... worth six times as much" and such other expressions were stated.

Tickets were sold in the home rooms by the council representatives. Herbert Howell, chairman of the assembly committee, was in charge of the sales.

SA Handbook Being Revised

The Goldsboro High School Student Association handbook, last published in 1942, is being revised this year.

The committee revising the handbook is taking it page by page, and have now gone as far as the constitution.

The members of this committee are: Robert Andrews, chairman; Eunice Bizzell; Ray Bryan; Jewel Orton; John Thompson; with Mr. Eugene Roberts as advisor.

Andrews Heads Goldmasquers

Robert Andrews has been elected president of the Goldmasquers for this year.

The other officers are: Mamie Ruth Savage, secretary; F. W. Stanley, business manager; and Ned Champion, advertising manager.

These people were elected by the dramatics classes.
